Wrecking Ball Kills Worker

A construction worker was killed on Monday when a 3,000-pound wrecking ball suspended from a crane fell on him at Skyline Boulevard Road in Daly City.

Killed instantly was Charles Robinson, 47, of 130 Mansell Boulevard, San Francisco, a laborer employed by B. Fontana & Sons Company of South San Francisco.

The coroner's office said Robinson's head was crushed when the 1½-ton metal ball being used to raze an old overpass, plunged into a depression in the structure where Robinson was working unnoticed. It was his job to remove pieces of concrete broken off by the wrecking ball.

The crane operator, Walter Reibin, told police he did not see Robinson on the bridge. The foreman, Thomas Hannah, said he was seated in a truck when he saw Robinson's body plummet from the bridge.

Everything 'Nice' in South San Francisco

By BOB PETERSON

Sugar and spice and everything nice: that's what South San Francisco's council meeting was made of on Monday.

Compliments replaced often-heard invective and innuendo in a business-like meeting that left many council meeting regulars joyously stunned.

One man, who admitted to being an outspoken critic of previously drawn out meeting filled with hot verbal exchanges, congratulated the councilmen "for submitting to us an excellent example of how to run a business-like meeting."

Another significant factor in the seeming ease with which the councilmen progressed was that they went through the agenda without first holding a study session on the items.

City Manager Gale Dreisbach suggested the study sessions be eliminated. The change forces city staff to have projects completed and ready for recommendation, and makes it necessary for councilmen to do advance homework.

Dreisbach, who has also instituted a weekly status report to the councilmen, took time to thank them for the "full support" he has been getting. "This is a step in the right direction. I want you to know I appreciate it," he said.

Mayor William Borba, who did not let the meeting bog down, announced that he will be in the mayor's office to hear any of the public's comment Monday through Friday from 3 p.m. to 4:15 p.m.

Obviously taking his duties as mayor seriously, Borba said, "We are looking for improvement for South San Francisco through constructive statements. I won't allow personal vendettas."

Colma School Dress Code

A one-line dress code has been adopted by trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District for the Colma Intermediate School.

The board acted on the recommendation of school officials, who explained that the student body approved of the change from more restrictive guidelines.

The "code":

"Everyone should wear clean, neat clothes."

Saturday Crowning

Miss Pacifica Pageantry

It's pageant time in Pacifica!! The annual Miss Pacifica Pageant festivities are in full swing on the Coastside.

They began last Saturday evening with the first Miss Pacifica Ball, which was in honor of retiring Miss Pacifica 1970, Donna Lee Van Sickle.

About 200 sponsors and patrons of the pageant met in the Terrace Room of the Hilton Inn at the San Francisco International Airport.

The 11 sponsors of the event, promoted by the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce, were feted at a party at the home of Executive Director Aubrey Lumley.

Included were Henry Doelger Enterprises-Fairmont Merchant's Association, McDonald's of Pacifica, Seaview Tire & Brake Service, Pacific Manor Merchant's Association, James Telegan Realty, Pacifica Auto Dealers Association, Marianne's Fashion Fabrics, and the Bank of America.

Highlight of the Ball was the unveiling of the Miss Pacifica oil portrait, created for Miss Van Sickle by artist William Matheny of Daly City and the Pacifica Art Guild.

Decor for the evening, where dancing was to the music of the Jack Fisher Orchestra, was handled by the Pacifica Federated Women's Club, co-sponsors of the Ball. It featured blow-up and posters of Miss Van Sickle, and balloons imprinted with "Miss Pacifica Pageant." The remaining events of pageant week include final rehearsals and stage construction or the 15th Annual Miss Pacifica Pageant at Terra Nova High School Saturday night.

The pageant, under the theme of "Nothin's New," will feature original music by Glen Osser of New York, composer for the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City. He is currently writing the music for a Broadway musical to open next spring.

To help celebrate the birthday pageant, all former Miss Pacificas have been invited to return and will be featured at a luncheon on Saturday afternoon in the banquet room of the Muffin Mine.

a judges' dinner will be held previous to the pageant at the Moonraker. The pageant itself gets under way at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium of Terra Nova, which is converted into a theatre by design of John Craig and executed by Challenger Homes, under the leadership of Charles

First S.S.F. Reading of Political Fund Law

South San Francisco councilmen on Monday heard a first reading of an ordinance prohibiting the giving or receiving of certain campaign contributions.

Under the ordinance, franchisees whose rate is regulated by the council are prohibited from making campaign contributions.

Either the giving, or the receiving of contributions is a misdemeanor under the ordinance. The penalty is $500 fine, or six months imprisonment, or both.

The ordinance was urged by S9uth San Francisco's Citizens for Responsible Government.

Concern was expressed by the civic group following the recent San Diego scandal in which city officials allegedly received financial support from a taxicab company, then voted for rate increases.

City Attorney John Noonan said he patterned the ordinance after the state's uniform regulation concerning campaign contributions.

Noonan said, "I think the ordinance is beyond our powers," but read it at the urging of Councilman Frank Mammini.

Although going along with the first reading, Councilman Patrick Ahern said, "Why not digest it first. There won't be an election for a year."

Ahern had recently been under fire by Citizens for Responsible Government because at the time of his re-election local taxicabs carried his campaign signs. The firm later received a rate increase, voted on by Ahern.

Noonan was quick to point out that the ordinance applies to candidates as well as councilmen.

Young Problems

Juvenile Crime: Detention Is Proving Costly

By FRANK LAPIERRE

"Detention is the temporary care of children for whom secure custody is required for their own protection or that of the community, in physically restricting facilities, pending court dispositions or transfers to another jurisdiction or agency."

This definition appears in the Standards for Juvenile Halls published by the State Department of Youth Authority — the guide adhered to by the San Mateo County Probation Department.

Penal experts claim that detention in juvenile halls is not the solution to curbing the startling rise in criminal offenses by children in the past five years throughout the state.

On the one hand the public shouts juveniles are being let off with only a scolding and a slap on the wrist. On the other, many of these same citizens demand that steps be taken to lower their taxes.

Of all punishment, detention is the most expensive.

Caught in the middle is the County Probation Department whose job includes not only investigation of juvenile cases, but the disposition and, hopefully, rehabilitation of youthful offenders.

Last year 4,127 boys and girls were booked into Hillcrest Juvenile Hall, a decrease of 47 over the same period in 1969.

Many crimes committed by these youths are considered crimes of self-destruction: narcotics, runaways, incorrigible and truancy cases.

These juvenile crimes are on the rise. They constitute a substantial portion of the youths handled at Hillcrest last year (2,311).

Still there is a substantial number of so-called traditional offenders lodged at the juvenile hall located near The Highlands above Belmont.

Crimes range from homicide to truancy.

And while most crimes have been on the increase the notable exception since 1969 has been the decrease in auto thefts by boys.

A breakdown of admissions at Hillcrest last year revealed that 2,950 boys and 1,177 girls were booked. This figure is far below the actual number of youths picked up by local law enforcement agencies.

The reason for this is, simply, that local police are often able to settle the matter within their community without going through the reams of paperwork required to transport a youth to juvenile hall.

The criteria for admitting a juvenile to Hillcrest is clearly specified under article five of the Juvenile Court Law, sections 601 and 602.

In brief this article, which considers any person under the age of 21 years a juvenile, directs that an offender be sent to juvenile hall if the juvenile is considered to be a danger to himself or the community.

Violation of any law, including truancy and leading an immoral life, are cause for local police to turn the child over to authorities at Hillcrest.

The six branches of the County Probation Department are under the direction of Superior Court Judge Allison M. Rouse who does not like the job of having to wear two hats.

Judge Rouse is not only the juvenile judge, but also the "warden." He believes there should be a separation of these two offices.

Juveniles Detention Costly

for the investigation of cases and operation of the entire probation department is Chief Probation Officer Loren A. Beckley.

Beckley is a professional, a veteran of about 20 years in the probation department.

There are five directors under Beckley, plus the usual array of administrative assistants. He is responsible for both adult and juvenile criminal sections, business management, juvenile hall and the Glenwood Boys' camp-day-care programs.

Working with a budget of about $3.2 million and a staff of 223 specially trained personnel in the juvenile section, Beckley has impressed many private citizens and county officials with the department's progressive programs.

He has failed to impress some officials in certain areas, namely requests for more funds for expansion projects.

This is not the time to increase spending, officials claim.

The public is tax weary and is continually pressuring elected officials. This pressure reaches down to Beckley's department.

Beckley and his assistant, Charles T. Roberts, believe that they are saving the public money even in the face of rising costs and an increased number of inmates at their facilities.

They point out that it costs about $6,000 annually to care for a child at the California Youth Authority. If that same child "graduates" to the Department of Corrections he most likely comes back a more adept criminal and it costs the taxpayer more than $10,000 per year to care for him while he is incarcerated.

Hillcrest leads the way in costs of all Beckley's juvenile facilities. But even this cost is lower than if a child is sent to a state juvenile prison.

"There are those who want us to lock everyone up. They are the same ones who demand their taxes be lowered. And we can't do both," Lee A. Frimmersdorf, director of the Juvenile Hall, said.

JUHSD Honor Band to Play at Jefferson

The Jefferson High School District's Honor Band will perform at 8 p.m., Friday, at Skyline College.

John Bentley of Terra Nova High School in Pacifica will direct.

The outstanding music students from the district's five high schools will be featured.

Mark Benson and Dorian Ho, both of Daly City, will play solos.

Benson, a Westmoor senior and a four-year music veteran, has arranged music for stage band and formal ensembles and has received superior ratings on both trumpet solos and ensembles.

Benson has studied trumpet with Chet Patnoe and Johnnie Coppola and is a member of the Modern Music Masters, a national music honor society. He will solo in Rose Variations.

Miss Ho, a native of Taiwan, who began piano studies at the age of five, was the finalist in 1964-65 for the National Music Contest and the International Rotary Music Contest in Taiwan.

She has studied music at Osaka College of Music and at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music under Beatrice Beauregard. Her solo will be the first movement of Piano Concerto.

D.C. Housing Body to Meet

The Daly City Advisory Housing Committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the City Council's chambers at Civic Center.

The meeting will precede a hearing of the San Mateo County Regional Planning Committee-General Plan Review Committee at 8 p.m.

Linen Missing

A routine inventory at the International Inn in South San Francisco on Monday revealed that an estimated $1500 in linen is missing, according to the police.

Recycling Centers to Open in County

The first broad scale effort to recycle both metal cans and glass bottles in San Mateo County was announced Monday by Donald Ellis, president of California Anti-Litter League. Some 18 collection centers in the Bay Area will be operational Saturday. Hours are 3 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 1 to 5 p.m. on Saturdays.

Ellis presented details at a press conference at South San Francisco city hall.

South San Francisco, incidentally, has an ordinance which becomes effective July 1 to ban the sale of non-returnable bottles and cans. The recycling effort is an answer to this ordinance, according to Ellis.

Mayor William Borba said the ordinance "probably will come up for review" before it is due to become law. He said he also expects it to be rescinded.

At least half a dozen collection depots are planned for the San Mateo County area. Three definite sites are South San Francisco High School, Borel Shopping Center in San Mateo and Stanford Research Institute in Menlo Park.

Other tentative collection points are Westmoor High School in Daly City, possibly Tanforan Shopping Center in San Bruno, and one each in San Carlos and Burlingame.

The network of 18 centers, which will also be set up in San Francisco, and are now operating in Alameda County, will be operated by Community Pride.

This non-profit organization was the first attempt to apply industrial techniques to recycling solid wastes. Supported by Bay Area industry — particularly manufacturers of containers — the system was operated on a trial basis last year in the East Bay.

The inidial plan was so successful that the California Anti-Litter League endorsed the planned expansion. Funds for the expansion were supplied by the glass and can industries.

As an incentive, trading stamps will be given for glass, metal, and bottle deposits. Newspapers also may be recycled.

Ellis said the containers should be rinsed before they are returned to collection centers. He said that in order to speed reclamation glass bottles and jars should be separated by color and free of all metal. Metal containers should have the labels taken off.

The recycled materials will be sent from the collection depots to central transfer resorting stations, where it will be weighed and sent to the manufacturer for recycling.

Receipts from the sale of recylced materials will pay for the hiring of high school students to man the sites, and to pay for labor at the transfer stations. Profits will be turned over to the California Anti-Litter League for continuing programs.

State Files Dump Suit Against S.S.F.

The State of California filed suit in Superior Court yesterday seeking an order to force the city of South San Francisco and South San Francisco Scavenger Company and its owners George C. Stagnaro, to comply with orders issued last year by the Regional Water QualityControl Board for cleanup of the former municipal dump at Oyster Point.

It is requested in the suit, filed by the state attorney general's office, that the court issue a preliminary injunction requiring the defendants to comply with the board's cleanup and abatement order of January 29, 1970, and that they be ordered to pay $6,000 a day for each day they are in violation of the order.

The complaint charges that the defendants "intentionally" have violated the order directing them to inspect the perimeter of the old dump site and to clean up any materials in a position to be carried into the adjacent bay.

According to the suit, the board issued its order following a hearing January 29, 1970, and notified the defendants May 28, 1970, that they had failed to comply.

The dump has been in a non-operating status for several years.

Transit Station Ceremony Set

The City of Daly City and the Daly City Chamber of Commerce will hold a groundbreaking ceremony at 11 a.m., April 26, at the site of the Daly City rapid transit station.

The Bay Area Rapid Transit District's station will be at Knowles Avenue at Junipero Serra Boulevard.

A luncheon will follow at the Ranch Inn in the Serramonte Shopping Center.

Fire Sweeps S.S.F. Boats

A Daly City father and his four-year-old daughter suffered superficial facial and hand burns in a boat fire at South San Francisco's Oyster Point Marina Wednesday.

Willard R. Hayes, 38, and Jessica Hayes of 7 Parkview Way, Daly City, were treated at Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City, and sent home, hospital spokesmen said.

South San Francisco Fire Chief John Marchi said the 12:26 p.m. blaze damaged three boats and dock planking, and water and electrical lines.

The fire started while Hayes was connecting wires to a new battery, Marchi said.

Electrical sparks ignited an accumulation of gasoline fumes, the chief explained.

The blaze spread to crafts on each side of the Hayes boat. Marchi said damage to the Hayes boat was estimated at $2000, plus $1000 to contents; to a boat owned by LeRoy Hedgecock of Menlo Park, $160, and to a craft owned by Robert W. Newton of 600 Pepper Drive, San Bruno, $850.

Car Crashes Into House

Rain-slickened sidewalks and inexperience were blamed early Wednesday for an auto accident in which a car slammed into a parked car and a house in Millbrae.

Police said a 1970 car was being driven northward on Ridgewood Drive at 1:30 a.m., by Craig Alex Carner, 16, of 141 Portola Avenue, San Bruno.

Carner's car apparently went out of control, officers said, and slammed into a parked 1964 car owned by Frank Luporini, 1952 Ridgewood.

Then Carner's car veered across the street and across the lawn of a house owned by Gerald T. Engeli, 1069 Ridgewood, police said.

Officers reported that the careening car damaged the Engeli lawn, shrubbery, a fence, and the house, before coming to a halt. Carner reportedly suffered an apparently minor injury to his left elbow.

Bruno Land Annex Seen

The city of San Bruno apparently intends to pursue the annexation of a strip of unincorporated land bordered by Seventh Avenue and Bayshore Freeway.

Mayor Maurice Hamilton polled the other council members last week and said he would report the council's interest in annexation to San Francisco Airport Manager George Hansen.

Included in the area, which would be annexed is the site on which Pan American Airlines once planned to build a commissary.

Youth Saved in S.F.

A six-year-old San Francisco boy clung to bullrushes for over 20 minutes in cold-wind-swept Lake Merced after a sailboat overturned Sunday.

Paul Koenitz of 14 Ridgewood Drive was rescued by Daly City firemen and a game warden.

Battalion Chief Mel Hansen said a citizen ran into the Lake Merced Boulevard fire station to tell firemen that a small boat had overturned in the San Francisco lake.

Captain Sciaroni and firemen Ed Rose, Robert Padreddii and Jay Modglin responded shortly after 12:21 p.m., and the child's grandfather, Robert Koeintz, indicated that Paul was clinging to the bullrushes 50 yards from shore, in water about 15 or 20 feet deep.

Captain Sciaroni, Fireman Rose and Lake Merced Game Warden Chester Banks waded, then swam to the boy, while Firemen Padreddii and Modglin threw out lines from shore, to assist the rescuers and the victim.

Paul was unhurt, Hansen said.

THE Listening POST by Lyle Arnold & Alex Florea

About 1945 the fourth — and now the most widely used — type of hearing aid was introduced, known as the behind-the-ear instrument. It was originally quite bulky and weighed almost an ounce, but the development of tiny solid state electronic circuits has reduced this type to very small size and a featherweight ¼ ounce.

This aid can now be completely hidden by women's hair, and concealed so securely behind any ear that the wearer can engage in active sports like tennis. And it is so efficient that it can be used by people with up to 90% hearing loss.

The behind-the-ear aid offers the widest choice of models and is the most practical type for most persons. Today it is being worn very successfully by about 70% of our many clients.

No matter what kind of hearing aid you have or want, come in for a FREE consultation. We have ALL models and types.

Meter Cost Up in Bruno

The cost of installing a water meter in San Bruno will go up.

Council members last week agreed to raises outlined by Acting City Manager Leo Van Dusen.

The new rate for installing a two-inch meter pipe will be $450. It had been $275. Installation of a one - and - a - half - inch pipe is now $350. It had been $225. The price for a one inch pipe to the meter is now $175. It had cost $125. And the three-quarter-inch meter pipe installation now will cost $125, instead of $47.

Van Dusen pointed out that these prices pertain only to new construction, and will not affect present meter systems.

FBI Agents Arrest Fugitive in Pacifica

FBI men carrying machine guns captured one of the nation's "ten most wanted men" Wednesday in Pacifica while he fed horses on a ranch overlooking the Pacific.

Warren David Reddock, 44, had been working at the Shamrock Ranch, a combination farm and boarding kennel, since August 1, of last year, under the name Walter Thompson.

Reddock was to be arraigned before a U.S. magistrate in San Francisco this morning, on a charge of interstate flight to avoid prosecution for murdering his business partner, Harvey Rosensweig, 40, near Waukegan, Ill., September 26, 1968.

Rosensweig's body was found in a wooded area near Waukegan. Police said cause of death was "bludgeoning."

FBI agents said Reddock admitted his true identity to them, although he had been living under assumed names since the federal warrant was issued, October 11, 1968.

His past three years was patterned after the television series "Fugitive," suggested police, with Reddock working in various places as an accountant, clerk, machinist, oil field hand, typist, and waiter.

Unlike the hero of that electronic melodrama, however, Reddock has a criminal past.

He was imprisoned in Arizona in 1954, for check fraud, and later served prison terms in California and Texas for offenses ranging from robbery, to forgery, to check fraud.

He was paroled in May of 1967, from a federal court conviction for interstate transport of forged checks, for which he had been sentenced to a five-year prison term.

Fellow workers at the Pacifica ranch expressed astonishment at Reddock's capture.

"He was really a mild mannered, easy kind of a guy, and a good worker," said Jim Corroo, manager.

"It really surprised me when he was arrested. I can't believe it."

BART Yard for Millbrae Is Opposed

Many Millbrae residents made their position clear last week: "We don't want a marshalling yard for BART's rapid transit cars."

Some 50 citizens including city councilmen and planning commissioners and residents of neighborhoods facing San Francisco International Airport, stayed away from the Academy Awards show to make this position plain.

The most startling disclosure of the evening came when design consultant William Lathrop said the plan for a rail car yard in Millbrae might be dropped in favor of a site in Burlingame. He said the idea is so new his people have not yet had time to confer with Burlingame's officials or citizens about their reaction to such a plan.

The public meeting at Millbrae's Recreation Center had been set up by the city, and by spokesmen of the Airport Access Committee which is operating under joint sponsorship of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District and San Mateo County.

With charts and drawing, design consultant Lathrop and Project Director Larry Dahms explained their possible tentative recommendations for the southern end of an eight-mile extension of BART's system, from Daly City to the Airport.

With a cost estimated at $280 million to $330 million, the airport access line is expected to be BART's second largest producer of revenue, the experts said.

But one thing it would need is a parking yard for as many as 180 transit cars, and an area where the cars might be cleaned and serviced.

The most suitable area which has been found, they said, is a mile-long strip just west of Bayshore Freeway, on Airport property between the Airport's main access overpass, and Millbrae Avenue.

Although the Airport objects to the site being used for a rail yard, said Lathrop and Dahms, nine other alternative sites in the immediate airport area have been discarded as being even less likely.

A later possibility, suggested by Lathrop as a possibly less expensive one, would be to put the trapid transit district's marshalling yard in Burlingame, along the Southern Pacific tracks south of Trousdale Drive.

Millbrae officials said they "will not get into a shouting match with Burlingame, to see which can object the loudest," (in objecting to the yard) "but we will shout at you BART people."

City Councilman Harold Purpos summed up Thursday's position by saying:

"You are going to run into extreme opposition here, from the citizens, and I suspect official opposition, too."

Toward the end of the two-hour session, Millbrae's citizens and officials began suggesting the mile-long service center be built underground, either under the proposed site, or under the airport itself.

Dahm ended his comments by saying: "We want to build a system that you people will want," but by then it was apparent that no one in the room, wants a BART spur storage yard in Millbrae.

BUICK BARGAIN DAYS ARE HERE
Buick Bargain Days are saving days.
A bargain price on a stripped-down car is no bargain. But a Buick or Opel at a bargain is something else again. Because we're not selling some special stripped-down model.
We're selling Buicks and Opels, the same great cars we've sold all year.
With one difference. The deals have never been better. Which means that you can move out in a new Buick or Opel at a price that's hard to believe.
When Buick talks about a bargain, we give you something to believe in.

Opel 1900 Sport Coupe. With a 1.9 liter engine that operates efficiently on low-lead or no-lead gasolines, hydraulic valve lifters for quiet engine operation, power front disc brakes and more.
Skylark Custom. With Buick's exclusive nickel-plated engine exhaust valves for smoother operation on today's cleaner fuels, Comfort-Flo ventilation system and more.
BUICK MOTOR DIVISION
GM
MARK OF EXCELLENCE
Your Buick-Opel dealer will give you better reasons to buy a new car now than anybody else.
The business of auto safety.
Auto safety is everyone's concern. But it's our business.
And we think the attention that's being paid to auto safety now is a good thing. Because it will result in better driving for everyone.
And, frankly, better driving for everyone means better business for us.
We say Buick is something to believe in. That's why we're trying to make it easy to be safe by putting in safety features that work by themselves. You don't have to do anything to make them work.
Like side guard beams. And the energy absorbing steering column. And the cargo guard between the trunk and back seat. They start "working" even before you get in the car.
But two safety features, two of the most vital, are worthless unless you do something first.
Seat and shoulder belts.
Unfastened they do nothing. And you've seen enough statistics to know what a difference they can make. So use them.
But that's not all you can do. Because the most effective safety feature of all can't be added to our cars or anybody else's.
That feature is you. And the way you drive.
Which should be defensively. And rested. And sober.
We're all in this together. And together we can solve the auto safety problem once and for all.
And the time is now.

The winning art work from the Sunday School Art Contest and original prayers written by children will also have prominent places in the show. The bake sale, which will begin at 11:30 a.m., will permit guests to treat themselves to dainties from Provence as they purchase the usual favorite American bakery goods.

COLORFUL POSTERS are on display in each of the Millbrae schools, reminding students and parents of the coming First Annual Spring Clothing Appeal through April 23.

Each of the schools iiis serving as a collection center for clean, immediately wearable items of children's clothing. Shoes, sweaters, shirts, jackets, coats, rain gear, dresses, slacks and sports outfits are being accepted.

The appeal is sponsored by the Student Aid Committee of the Millbrae P-TA Coordinating Committee. Mrs. Robert Obler is chairman.

THE MARQUEE

Sigh along with Sinatra. I've been doing it now for 20 years. His fans are loyal. They've keep the passion alive through three marriages, political seesawing, fisticuffs, gambling bouts, gossip, perennial peccadillos and comebacks.

The Frank Sinatra Film Festival at the Half Moon Bay Theater that began April 16 will serve as balm to these youthful fantasies. The opening program was started at 7 p.m. with 'Pal Joey' and continued with 'Manchurian Candidate' and 'From Here To Eternity.' For four weeks. Thursday through Sunday. They will show three films a night, totaling 24 of the 55 Sinatra has made.

There had to be a better word than charisma to describe the hypnotic, orgiastic power he had during the Forties and early Fifties. And while I've somewhat tempered my adoration of him, I'm heartened to hear there are 2500 members of the Sinatra Music Society, a group of collectors who formed in 1955 with an offshoot organization active locally with 250 members, 60 of whom reside in the Bay Area.

They publish a newsletter, trade tapes, collect photographs (one woman has 10,000) and keep in touch with The Voice. Its headquarters are the home of its secretary, Bob Chiappari, 915 Diamond Street, San Francisco.

"I've been a fan since age 13. Sinatra was singing at the Golden Gate Theater in 1946 and people stood in double lines all around two blocks to get in. I knew the doorlady and got backstage," he said.

"He posed for a picture with me and we talked. I was already collecting his records. When I moved to Los Angeles, I'd attend the Hit Parade every week and he'd pass me and say Hello. Once in Las Vegas he invited me to watch him rehearse. I spent three hours with him."

"The Society supplied Radio Station KNEW with noncommercial tapes from live performances and television shows and interviews for a 91 hour marathon special. Sinatra sent me an inscribed watch from Van Clef and Arpels."

"When we did the same thing for a special they had on in Los Angeles, his first wife Nancy sent me a beautiful personal thank you. She remarked what I already knew, that Frank's fans are fantastically loyal. She said it meant a lot to the family."

Another fan is Walt Von Hauffe who owns the movie house in Half Moon Bay. He planned the festival long before Sinatra announced his retirement and will co-produce with the Sinatra Music Society.

Sinatra got his start on the Major Bowes Amateur Hour in 1935 at the age of 20. He joined the Harry James band in 1939 for six months and quit to go with Tommy Dorsey for two years.

In 1942 he struck out on his own and opened New Year's Eve at the Paramount Theater in New York. Benny Goodman was the lead act and Frank was a featured soloist. He was an overnight success.

The schedule is; "Kissing Bandit," "Von Ryan's Express" and "The Detective" on April 22 and 23: "High Society," "Never So Few" and "Sergeants Three," April 24 and 25; "Kings Go Forth," "Take Me Out To The Ball Game," and "Come Blow Your Horn," April 29 and 30; "Step Lively," "Hole In The Head," and "Some Came Running," May 1 and 2; "Oceans Eleven," "Can Can" and "Robin and the Seven Hoods," May 6 and 7 "It Happened In Brooklyn," "Higher and Higher" and "Dirty Dingus Magee," May 8 and 9.

JILL CULINER, of Pacifica, remains aloof as her fellow Theatre students at Skyline College portray their roles in Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler." In the foreground are Cheryl Loyd, San Bruno, as "Auntie Juju," and Val Molkenbuhr, of Millbrae, as Hedda's scholarly husband.

The 'Hedda Gabler' Impact

By JACK RUSSELL

The brooding drama, "Hedda Gabler" by Henrik Ibsen has immediate impact on an audience being smothered with women's lib effusions.

Hedda is one of the great literary figures of cur era ranking with Madam Bovary as a trapped woman.

The play can be handled in personification of the scheming female who snares herself in her own machinations. Or she can be a brisk, competent 1970 woman caught in a tangle of bumbling, boring, tedious males.

The Skyline College drama department's production varies the tone with unsatisfying results. Jill Culiner's Hedda at times is almost melodramatic in her glowering looks, flashing eyes and sarcasm. She would make a magnificent Dragon Lady.

At the same time the men are rather stodgy types which possess scarcely any wit and certainly no fire. The only exception is Declan Murray who handles the pivotal role of Judge Brack with fine style. He projects as the strongest member of the cast and certainly the most fascinating.

Val Molkenbuhr III is the ineffectual Tessman we have ever seen and his final cry of, "By Jove" when he finds his wife a suicide evokes laughter rather than compassion.

Molkenbuhr has all the prissy mannerisms of the pedant but he needs a shade more solidity.

Armand Blasi is too sombre and dazed to portray the dashing, doomed Eilert Loveborg "with vine leaves in his hair."

Terra Nova Topics

By Rockie Montenegro

Ping Pong Tournaments have been making the headlines lately, not only in China, but at Terra Nova as well, as students compete against teachers in a continuous ping pong "tourney," which takes place every Tuesday during activity period.

Now in its seventh week, the student and teacher team list has almost been exhausted. Ping ponging away for points are teachers Trimble and Sartor, Soden and Dhunjishah, Ceragioli and Winslow, Cooper and Henley, Bentley and Shackelford, Gunning and Allegrini, and Curley and Finefrock. Student ping pongers include Papadakis and Perra, Kennedy and Uchtman, Petty and Gertsema, Dennis and Goff, Clienture and Perrigan, and Passanisi and "D."

The play-offs will be held after school as soon as the last round is completed, and special ping pong tropies will be awarded to the champions.

TWO TERRA NOVA TEACHERS, David Campbell and Edwin Brownstone, will be taking official leaves of absence next year. Brownstone, who teaches English, will go to Belgium for a 15-month sabbatical.

Campbell, who teaches drama, will spend the year in England, where he says he will "drop-off on my way to Afroghanistan, where I intend to study terminological Inexactitude at the University of Lompoc."

Louis Boccaleoni of the mathematics department also will be on sabbatical for one year; destination unknown.

THE SOPHOMORE SPRING DANCE, scheduled for April 16, was canceled because of slow advanced ticket sales. A certain number of dance tickets must be sold in advance to cover the cost of the band.

This is not the first time that this has happened at TN. The sophomore class has suffered twice from lack of student support this year. Although there are usually a greater number of students who buy tickets at the door than in advance, numerous dances have had to be called off.

THE SENIOR CLASS held its annual car-wash last Saturday at Keith's Texaco station at Linda Mar, to raise money for senior activities. The Senior Ball will be April 30 at the Airport Marina. Theme for the ball is "we've Only Just Begun."

Clubwomen Calendar Two Events

Two events are on the calendar for members of the Millbrae Woman's Club.

May Frolic is the theme for the group's annual dinner dance which will take place on May 1 at the Crystal Springs Golf Club. No-host cocktails at 7 p.m. will precede the 8 p.m. dinner. Deadline for reservations is Friday.

Mrs. Robert A. Belloni, chairman, is assisted by Mesdames Raymond Campi and Clifford Pearson, decorations; Eldridge Huber, dinner and service; Charles Calvert, prizes; and Jack Banks and Alfred Federico, hospitality; and George Newberry and Ralph Stout, publicity.

Reservations are being taken by Mrs. Earnest A. Davini and Mrs. Donald G. O'Neill.

Millbrae florist Michael Matthew will present the program when the club meets tomorrow at 10:45 a.m. at the Green Hills Country Club. A noon social hour will precede the 12:30 p.m. luncheon. Mrs. Dante Galli is taking reservations.

Williams- Gustafson Nuptials

Las Vegas and the Grand Canyon are the honeymoon destinations of Harold M. Gustafson Jr. and his bride, the former Carol Ann Williams, who were married recently at St. Dunstans Church in Millbrae.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the Millbrae home of Carol's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell B. Williams.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar by her father, said her vows in an ivory floor length long sleeved organza gown which was appliqued and edged with lace. A mantilla veil completed her silhouette and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, baby's breath, and stephanotis.

Lilac organza gowns trimmed in purple were worn by all the attendants who carried bouquets of pink roses and carnations. Susan Williams was her sister's maid of honor and another sister, Julie Williams, shared secondary attendants' duties with Marilyn Kurpinsky.

Lee Gustafson was his brother's best man. Both are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Gustafson of El Cerrito. David Williams, the bride's brother, seated guests with Antonio Lemos and Daniel Kennedy.

Mrs. Williams witnessed her daughter's wedding in a coral knit costume with beige accessories. A sea foam green silk wool dress and bone accessories were selected by Mrs. Gustafson.

After greeting guests, the new Mrs. Gustafson changed to a Navy and red costume with white accessories for her wedding trip. Upon return, she and Harold will live in Mountain View.

Carol is an alumna of the College of San Mateo, San Jose State and the University of Santa Clara. Her husband was graduated from Contra Costa Junior College and San Francisco State.

Ultra Economy Tour

Ready for a little vacation?

Well, members of the Our Lady of Mercy's festival committee are advertising the super-fun, ultra economy tour of Our Country slated for April 29 through May 2!

Least you be misled, "this tour" is of the local variety and all the exotic tourist spots mentioned in the advertisement are dotted about the parish hall, rather than the countryside.

Gabe Adami and his committee have used considerable ingenuity and talent to working out the details of the festival theme, "Our Country," and the hall will present a wide cross section of American as well as varied collection of games, food and merchandise. Ed Cuevas has been in charge of the decorations and his "works of art" will be much in evidence about the hall.

Mrs. John Kachur has been in charge of general merchandise, Mrs. William Feeley and John Jurgens have taken care of the investment and Mrs. Robert Bell and Bill Cardiel have arranged the details of the Saturday night dinner.

Cypress Gardens, where visitors may shop for garden needs, will be the province of Mrs. John Breslin, Mrs. Michael Loyd and Mrs. Robert Lavaysse. Those who venture into the Oregon Caves will be greeted by Mrs. Andrew Skirra, Mrs. Michael Cooney and Mrs. Vincent Hussey, who will be dispersing grab bag goodies.

Those with a sweet tooth will be interested in meeting with Sweet Leilani and the ladies in charge of candies, Mrs. Albert Fambrini and Mrs. Victor Sariotti.

Mrs. Ray Forcina and Mrs. James Murray will be administrating the business at Radio City where the young at heart will be able to replenish their record supply.

All the wild animals will be coralled in Yellowstone Park, and for the peace of mind of the timid, we have it on good authority that all the animals will be stuffed. Riding head on the livestock will be Mrs. Byron Davenport, Mrs. John Cresalia, Mrs. Wilbert Souza and Mrs. Thomas Daly.

During the ardorous trek across country people get a bit hungry and Mama Leone's will be the place to stop for a snack. Waiting on the travelers will be Mrs. Robert Cantwell, Mrs. Robert Massey and Mrs. Robert Arata.

In the fanciful land of Toyland Mrs. Harry Lidner and Mrs. John Bauer and Mrs. David Gallagher will be displaying toys for tots while Mrs. Robert Rickert and Mrs. William Burkhardt, The Liberty Belles, will be selling lines.

Joe's of Westlake will donate chicken dinners for the festival on Saturday between 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. salad and pasta, vegetable, beverage and dessert will be served to those with reservations in the dining room in the parish school. All the arrangements have been worked out by Mrs. Bell and Cardiel who have announced that tickets are now on sale for adults, $1.75 and 75 cents for children. For reservations call Mrs. Kelechava, 755-7732 or Mrs. Bell, 756-4442. Take out dinners are available but reservations must be placed for those in advance through Mrs. Bell or Mrs. Kelechava. Mrs. Francis Kelly, publicity chairman, emphasized that it is not too early to make your arrangements for the dinner!

ITS ALMOST TIME for the elegant Fuchsia Ball, according to Mrs. Mario Mangini. The annual May ball is traditionally the major event on the guild's calendar and is planned to be as elegant and festive as possible. Dancing in the Pacific Room of the Villa Hotel in San Mateo will be to the music of the Maurice Wolohan orchestra.

Mrs. Philip Coniglio is the chairman of the event and she is being assisted by Mrs. Frank Falconi and Mrs. Donald Piercy. Mrs. Louis Castello of Daly City is the reservations chairman for the May 8 gala. Persons wishing to attend are asked to make their reservations as soon as possible. A $15 donation per person is requested to enable Mrsy's Help Hospital Guild to defray the expense of the ball and to aid the coronary care fund.

MEMBERS OF the Fifty Plus Club will hold the regular evening meeting for April on Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the library, Palmetto at Hilton in Pacifica.

On hand for the gathering will be new members Rita Yates, Mrs. Ruth Ball, Mr. and Mrs. John Trainor Bell, Mrs. Clarisa Bensen, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Williams, and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Heuring.

EIGHT CLASSES are now underway at Lakeside Presbyterian Church and all will still be accepting new members this Sunday morning or in the case of one class, this evening.

Transactional Analysis, Lead by Dr. Kent Hinesley will meet tonight in the Fireside Room of the Church, located on Nineteenth Avenue at Eucalyptus Drive. Special attention will be paid to the subject of family relationships. Persons who are interested in attending should call Mrs. Thomas Ramob.

A book study seminar will be held on May 16, and 23 at 10 a.m. with Robert Macaulay leading the discussion. Art and the Church, a study of the history and meaning of Christian art, lead by the docents of De-Young Museum, will continue to meet at 10 a.m. on Sunday mornings in the Fireside room. Meeting at the same hour are classes in Ethical Decisions lead by Wesley Woo; A consideration of Welfare and the Christian will be lead by John Flink; an adult Bible study class lead by Miss Marjorie McLeod and a survey of the Confession '67 to be analysed by Dr. Roe Johnston.

LOCAL AUTHOR Mrs. Ruth Hoppin will review her book," Pricilla, Author of the Epistle to the Hebrews and Other Essays" during the Friends of the Library meeting to be held tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the Westlake Park Clubhouse, 149 Lake Merced Boulevard, adjacent to the fire station.

Mrs. Hoppin is the wife of Stuart B. Hoppin and the mother of Christopher Columbus School pupils June and Ralph Hoppin,

After two years of research of originnal sources as well as writings on the subject by almost every other Biblical scholar, Mrs. Hoppin concludes that the late German scholar, Adolph van Harnack's theory that Pricilla, wife of Aquilla, is the author of the Epistle, is accurate.

Mrs. Hoppin holds a degree from Brooklyn College in chemistry and she has applied scientific methods to the task of researching for her book.

Mrs. Thomas A. Jovick, president of the Friends of the Library, emphasized that the public is invited to the free review and encouraged to join the members at coffee preceding the program.

Mrs. Hoppin will be the honored guest at a no-host luncheon in the Bunker Room of the Cypress Hills Golf Course immediately after the meeting. Reservations to the luncheon may be made at the time of the review, according to Mrs. F. L. Walter, book review chairman.

The couple recited vows at the Redwood Presbyterian Church in Larkspur and honeymooned at Lake Tahoe.

The bride is the niece of Mary Schaffer of San Francisco. She was graduated from Lincoln High School in San Francisco and her husband is an alumnus of Westmoor High School who attended the College of San Mateo.

NELL NORTON

Sugar 'n Spice

Good morning, good cooks.

I'm sharing today a recipe for a casserole that is terrific. It's a low cost family main dish featuring ground beef, vegetables and attractive biscuit topping.

We think about eye appeal in planning a meal or preparing a dish. How a dish looks has a great deal to do with how it is received. This casserole is very appleasing with biscuits shaped and arranged to form a sunburst, sprinkled with sesame seeds

SUNBURST GROUND BEEF CASSEROLE

1 pound ground beef
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 cans (8 oz. each) tomato sauce
1 can (16 oz.) green beans, OR 1 can whole kernel corn, drained
1 cup (4 oz.) cubed pasterized process cheese
1 can (8 oz.) refrigerated buttermilk or country-styled biscuits
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
1 Tablespoon sesame seeds
OVEN 350-degrees.

In large fry pan, brown the pound ground beef and the one-fourth cup onions; drain. Add one-fourth teaspoon pepper, two cans tomato sauce, one can drained beans and one cup cheese cubes; simmer.

Separate biscuit dough into 10 biscuits. Cut hole in center of each biscuit to resemble doughnut.

Pour hot meat mixture into 2-quart casserole. Dip biscuit rings in the fourth cup melted butter, pull each ring slightly to form oval; place around edge of casserole. (You want the biscuits to look like a sunburst or like the petals of a flower.) Dip the holes in hot butter and arrange in center. Sprinkle with the one tablespoon sesame seeds.

Bake in 350-degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes until biscuits are a golden brown.

Serves 4 to 5.

I think a cobbler makes a delightful dessert. First because it's so good and secondly it is so easy to make. You may use either canned or fresh fruits, plus a topping of easy to mix dough and just pop it in the oven.

PEACH COBBLER

½ cup sugar
1 Tablespoon cornstarch
1 Can (No. 2½) sliced peaches and juice
butter and cinnamon
1 cup flour
1 Tablespoon sugar
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
3 Tablespoons oil
½ cup milk
Heat over to 400-degrees.

Mix the half cup sugar and one tablespoon cornstarch in saucepan. Gradulally stir in the large can peaches, juice and all. Bring to boil; Boil one minute, stirring constantly. Pour into 1½ quart baking dish and dot with butter and sprinkle lightly with cinnamon.

In mixing bowl sift the one cup flour, one tablespoon sugar, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder and half teaspoon salt. Stir in the three tablespoons oil and half cup milk.

Drop by large spoonfuls onto hot fruit. Bake in 400-degree oven 25 to 30 minutes or until golden brown.

Serve warm. Serves 4 to 6.

CORRECTION — Last week the recipe for banana nut cookies contained an error. The correct amount of milk is one-fourth cup.

Shut Up and Print

"Why don't you just shut up for a change and print more recipes?"

"OK."

Last Saturday I was the one with some time to spare so I was elected to do the shopping. (A one to one vote with the wife breaking any ties). At any rate, the list was long — but intresting. I couldn't figure out what she had in mind.

That night I found out — and it turned out to be one of my favorite dishes. Here it is.

BEEF PAPRIKA

Egg Noddles
2 pounds stewing beef, in one inch chunks.
Tenderizer
3 Tbsp. butter
1 cup chopped onion
2 garlic cloves
3 Tbsp. flour
2 Tbsp. paprika
1½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
¼ tsp. thyme
1 bay leaf
2 one pound cans whole peeled tomatoes
½ cup sour cream

Brown tenderized meat in butter. Add onion and garlic and cook until tender (not too brown). Blend flour and seasonings. Add tomatoes and their juice, bring to boil, cover and simmer an hour and a half. Add sour cream and heat gently uncovered until sauce thickens. Additional flour may be needed. Remember — that's 2 tablespoons Paprika. Serve over cooked egg noodles. Serves six.

Say, as long as we're using tomatoes, how about some tomato bread? This recipe goes great with honey.

TOMATO BREAD

2 cups tomato juice
2 Tbsp. butter
3 Tbsp. honey
1 Tsp. salt
¼ cup tomato catsup
1 package active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water (110 to 115 degrees)
About 6½ cups all-purpose flour

Heat tomato juice and butter together until butter is melted. Add honey, salt and catsup. Let cool to lukewarm. Sprinkle yeast on warm water; stir to dissolve. Add tomato mixture and three cups flour to yeast.

Beat with electric mixer at medium speed for two minutes, scraping the bowl occasionally or beat by hand until smooth.

Mix in enough remaining flour, a little at a time (first with a spoon and then with hands.) to make a soft dough that leaves the sides of the bowl. Turn onto lightly floured board and knead until smooth and elastic, 8 to 10 minutes.

Place in lightly greased bowl, turn dough over to grease top. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled, one to one and a half hours. Punch down and divide in half. Cover and let rest 10 minutes.

Shape into loaves and place in greased 9 by 5 by 3 inch loaf pans. Cover and let rise until almost doubled; about one hour.

Bake at 425 degrees about 25 minutes or until bread tests done. Makes two loaves. Freezes well.

Portola Valley Wedding

The Valley United Presbyterian Church in Portola Valley was the setting Saturday afternoon for the marriage of Judy Ann Torkelsen and James Michael Babcock.

The Rev. Robert Flagg officiated at the one o'clock service for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Torkelsen and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald I. Babcock. Both families reside in San Bruno.

When Judy approached the altar with her father she was wearing an Empire A-line gown of imported organza and peau de ange with pearl and crystal trim. Appliques detailed her full bishop sleeves and the front of her costume. A removable chapel train completed the bride's look and she carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and white roses.

For her wedding trip to Southern California, Judy changed to a Navy blue and white knit dress with white accessories and a white rose corsage. Upon return, she and James will live in Cupertino.

Lori Buaghn, the maid of honor, set the style of dress for all the attendants in a long pink voile dress with scoop neckline and puffed sleeves which were accented with white flowers and trimmed with green velvet ribbon.

Janet Navilhon of San Bruno and Linda Babcock, the bridegroom's sister, served as the secondary attendants and Denise and Stacey Torkelsen, nieces of the bride, were the flower girls.

The maids carried pink roses interspersed with baby's breath and white baskets filled with the same flowers were carried by Denise and Stacey.

Best man for his brother was Donald Babcock and Edmund Canardo and John Cappello, both of San Francisco, seated the guests who later felicitated the couple in the Pacific Room of the Villa Hotel.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Torkelsen selected a citron colored wool and silk costume bordered with Venise lace and highlighted by a green cymbidium orchid. A white cymbidium orchid was pinned to the soft pink dacron knit trimmed in pink teardrop pearls which Mrs. Babcock wore.

Judy and James are both graduates of Crestmoor High School. She also studied at the College of San Mateo and he completed his education at the University of San Francisco where he majored in accounting.

The new matron is employed as a medical assistant in San Bruno. Alan and Dale Torkelsen are her brothers. Her husband, who is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Sigma fraternity, is employed as an accountant in San Francisco.

WINNING BONNETS — Wearing their entries in the Serramonte Homeowners Association Easter Bonnet contest are (clockwise, from lower left) Debbie Laeloff, prettiest, 9-12 years; Cindy Weiler, most original, 1½-4 years; Tammy Strassburger, prettiest, 5-8 years; Terry Newman, most original, 5-8 years; Jenny O'Connor, prettiest, 1½-4 years; Barbara Buckley, most original, 9-12 years. They are with Lois Viceno, a clown who added to the Easter entertainment. (Starr Photo)

THESE VOLUNTEERS are among the women who are conducting a door-to-door campaign this month as part of National Cancer Control Month for the American Cancer Society's San Mateo County unit. They are (left to right), Mrs. Florence Kane, Mrs. George Bigon and Mrs. Larry Baum, who pose with the "Sword of Hope," which they expect to use as a key to "big money." (Starr Photo)

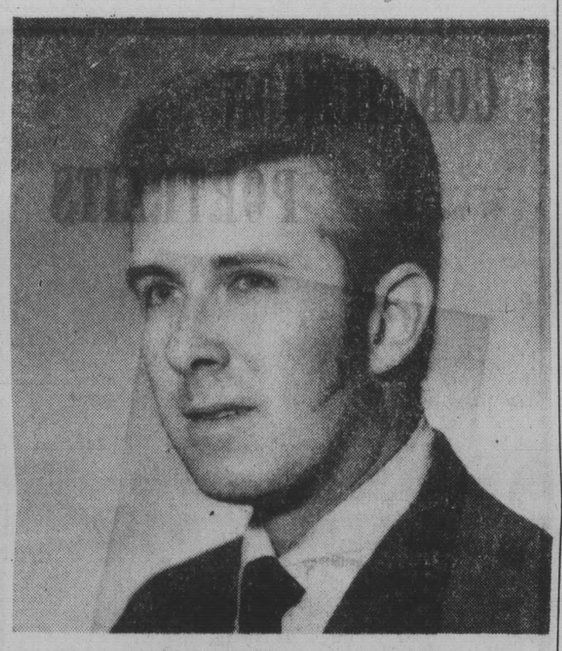
Oreste's Has Old World Charm — Food To Match

Oreste's restaurant in San Francisco has old world charm, boasting many private banquet rooms, a wine cellar; and a collection of famous Italian oil paintings. The menu, both luncheon and dinner, is extensive and many of the dishes were created here. It's a great place to do your entertaining, whether it be a small party in the main dining room, or a large group in any of the banquet rooms. Oreste's truly adds to San Francisco's fame for good eating. Reservations are advisable. Open seven days a week . . . Arroz Con Pollo Special (chicken Peruvian style) remains one of the most popular dishes at Frank Torres Beach restaurant, located in Montara just south of Devil's Slide on Coast Highway One. Owned and operated by Frank and Fannie Torres, this famed eatery has been serving South American specialties for many years. . . . The Sinaloa cantina in North Beach continues to offer an exciting all-Latin revue, featuring top-notch singers, comedians and sensuous dancers. This is a show that can't be beat. And while you're in the Sinaloa, try one of the superb dinners.



GARY'S BACK — Handsome pianist Gary Lee is back at the Stagecoach Room of Stickney's San Mateo every Friday and Saturday. Gary begins at 6 p.m. with his wide repertoire of tunes — ballads, Broadway show songs, light classics and your requests.

South Lake Tahoe Special

Groups planning treks to South Lake Tahoe, Nev., may take advantage of Park Avenue Tours' one-night offer (Wednesday or Saturday) or the two-night special (Friday and Saturday). Greyhound buses will pick up and deliver your party at a given time and location. Barney's Club and the South Tahoe Nugget provide the added bonus refunds . . . It's amazing how quickly Enrico Romano, owner and operator of Romano's Italian restaurant in Pacifica's Rockaway Beach, has recovered from his recent surgery and is already back on the job, working just as hard as before in preparing his delicious Italian sauces and anchovy-covered pizzas. Of course, anchovies make up only one of the many ingredients which go into a Romano pizza, but we can't help but think of Enrico as "The Apostle of Anchovies" . . . There's something unique about Foster's Pancake and Farm-Fried Chicken House, one of the many Foster restaurants scattered throughout the Bay Area. It offers an incredibly wide menu of items. There is a huge pancake variety and numerous eggs and meat dishes on the breakfast menu. Dinners come complete with soup or salad, and include such entrees as Farm-Fried Chicken, Pot Roast of Choice Beef, Filet of Sole and Breaded Veal Cutlet.

Prime Rib Menu Specialty

Prime Rib is the main specialty at the Belmont Prime Rib, of course, but chef Deiter Lenz' new dinner menu also lists steaks, seafoods and several Italian dishes. Many patrons have lavishly praised the new menu, and credit must be given Owners Jack and Dorothy Davis for realizing exactly what diners desire . . . Industrious Bruno Fava of Bruno's in downtown San Mateo is one of the most versatile restaurant owners on the local dining scene. Early morning finds Bruno in the kitchen preparing his famous soups and the day's specials. He does all the culinary work during the bustling lunch hour; takes a break in mid-afternoon and then returns to the restaurant for an evening of hosting . . . Peter Selaya, executive chef at The Shadows of San Mateo, excels in German dishes. He is also the culinary genius responsible for the wide variety of thick soups which are nearly as famous as the Shadows itself . . . The classic dishes of Italy and France served at lunch and dinner at Doros in San Francisco are prepared under the direction of their master chef, Paolo Bermani.

Kay Nolan Sparks The Action At S.F. Bruno's

For the past 19 years, Kay Nolan has been greeting diners at the front door of Bruno's, an Italian restaurant located in San Francisco's Mission District at Twentieth and Mission Streets. Kay, a lovely brunette, bubbling with personality and a charming wit, has come to personify all the outstanding qualities this long-favorite restaurant stands for. Bruno's, which is open seven days a week from 11 a.m. to 3 a.m., is owned by the Darti Investment Company, which owns the Taco Bell of South San Francisco and has an interest in 28 other Taco Bell sites. It has remained in the Darti family for the past three generations (35 years to be exact) "We don't really run it," says a representative of the Darti Company "It's really people like Kay who have been responsible for the success of the restaurant." Others who have had an active hand in the popularity of Bruno's are Bud Heagney, beverage manager; John Aldana, the head chef (he's been on the job for at least 15 years); and Don Jones, the assistant chef.

Bruno's is famed for its numerous caricatures which line the bar area These are charcoal renderings of San Francisco VIPs, labor leaders, businessmen and notables from various walks of life. George Christopher and former mayor Shelley are included among the "larger-than-life" drawings.

Bruno's is also called "The Home of the Fryers."

MULTI-TALENTED — Johnny Desmond, who was a natural in the singing-acting role of Nick Arnstein opposite Barbra Streisand in "Funny Girl," is appearing at the San Francisco Playboy Club through April 24. Desmond has carried some of the show's songs over to his club appearance, much to the delight of his audiences.

Lesley Gore – Venetian Room

Dynamic performer Lesley Gore, whose latest Crewe Album is "Back Together," will appear in the Fairmont's Venetian Room through May 5. This seasoned young professional has a repertoire chosen to display the range she developed during seasons of musical comedy roles and her devotion to Jazz and the Blues . . . "We Love Margie Brandon" bumper stickers are headed for the wild Northwest. Clancy's peppy organist convinced a car dealer in the City to put the stickers on all new cars being shipped out and the first load went to Portland, Oregon . . . "An Evening With John F. Kennedy," a one-arm recreation of the highlights of the Kennedy years starring Jeremiah Collins, will be presented in College of San Mateo's Little Theater on Monday at 8 p.m. Tickets are available by mail or in person at the CSM Cashier's office . . . Grand Funk Railroad, known for their loud, heavy, hard rock sound, will appear at Winterland, San Francisco, on Sunday at 9 p.m. Bloodrock, a six-man Texas group, will also appear.

Lucian "Male Sophie Tucker"

Lucian, the "Male Sophie Tucker" in Finocchio's revue of female impersonators, has to be one of the all-time top show stoppers in Bay Area nightclubs. With a baritone that sounds like the late Miss Tucker's, it's hard to imagine Lucian began his career as a boy soprano in a church choir in New York. His jibes with members of the audience is always one of the highlights of this unusual revue . . . Harold Gainey, the happy Indian waiter with the Exposition Fish Grotto for the past 25 years, is quite a horse-player. So is one of his patrons. Last week the patron dropped in, asked for Harold's station and was royally served. Presented with the check, the patron signed it this way: tip—$1.50, show—$1.50, total—$3.00 . . . Big double celebration at Lew Lehr's Steak House, in San Francisco's Marina district, when the Jack Baskervilles and the Richard Ericksons celebrated their wedding anniversaries together with a gala dinner party.

"Two For One" Continues

The Combination Plate featured on the "Two for the Price of One" coupon special at Nick Gust's Papagayo Room, Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, has to be one of the largest we have ever seen. Measuring at least a foot-and-a-half in diameter, it is loaded with juicy taco, cheese-covered enchilada, rice, refried beans and a chile relleno. To some diners, it is considered a meal in itself. Top this off with a romantic love ballad sung by a wandering guitarist and you're in for something pretty special . . . Emphasis is on Highland decor in the three dining areas (The Fireplace Room, the Red Room and the Bonnie Dee) at Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City. Uniformed waitresses in checkered kilties, knee socks and tartars that represent the various clans add just the right amount of feminine leif-motif. Steaks and Prime Rib of Beef (the way you like it) is the specialty . . . Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco, is a popular dinner stop for theatergoers. It's within easy walking distance of ten downtown theaters, and has ample parking at the door.

RECORD BREAKER — The Eddy Arnold show, with comedian Don Bowman and Silver Bird, will appear twice nightly in the 750-seat Circus Room at John Ascuaga's Nugget in Sparks, Nevada, through May 5. Eddy Arnold has sold more than 60,000 records during his career and is listed in the top four recording artists of all time category. Most people call his style just good music sung with a rare talent for telling the story. Each show features performances by Bertha and Tina, the amazing elephants, and Sam Donahue and his Orchestra.

Vows Exchanged by Peninsula Duo

The marriage of Sharon Irene Copello, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Copello of Millbrae, and Joseph Anthony McGowan, son of the William McGowans of San Mateo, took place Saturday afternoon at the Calvary Lutheran Church in Millbrae.

The Rev. Norman Nelson conducted the four o'clock service before an altar banked with white gladioli, orchids and candelabra with white bows. White satin ribbon with orchid stock also decorated the pews for the service which was followed by a reception at the Elks Club in South San Francisco.

A white satin and peau de ange lace Empire gown was worn by the bride when she walked to the altar with her father. It featured a high neckline, bishop sleeves and a chapel train.

Sharon carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and white orchids.

Mid-Victorian floor length gowns with lilac organza bodices and purple satin skirts were worn by all the attendants. The costumes featured an Empire waistline with a large bow at the front and a high neckline circled with ruffles.

Nyla Bishop was the maid of honor and Sandra Capello served as the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Anna Copello, Barbara McCahon, and Kelly and Kerry McGowan, sisters of the bridegroom. They all carried nosegays of violets, white carnations and orchids.

James Tresser stood with the benedict as best man and Larry and John Copello, Sharon's brothers, seated guests with Danny Hughes, Jack Dugan and Mike Farley.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Rod MacDonald of Sun City, Ariz. After greeting friends and relatives, the new matron changed to a Navy blue Italian knit costume for her wedding trip to Lake Tahoe.

Mrs. Copello witnessed her daughter's wedding in an apricot ensemble with a paisley print chiffon dress and tailored coat. A yellow chiffon dress was worn by Mrs. McGowan and both mothers pinned on white orchid corsages.

The newlyweds will make their first home in San Mateo.

The new matron is affiliated with Spurs and Lambda Delta Sigma. At her wedding she was attended by Rula Scoville, sister of the benedict.

Mr. and Mrs. Rulon S. Scoville of Daly City are Dwight's parents. He studied locally at Westmoor High School and at Brigham Young. He belongs to Pi Sigma Alpha. He and his bride will live in Provo, Utah until June when they will move to Washington D.C.

THE POST'S Family Forum

MRS. EUGENE BERTORELLI (above) is floor chairman and Gabe Adami is general chairman of the annual festival at Our Lady of Mercy which opens April 29 and runs through May 2. "Our Country" is this year's theme with all the booths resembling a miniature U.S.A. Proceeds will benefit Our Lady of Mercy building fund.

Keith Common, Paulette Bitting Exchange Vows

Catholic Church in South San Francisco are Keith Michael Common and his bride, the former Paulette Ann Bitting.

The couple, who will reside in South San Francisco, received felicitations after the two o'clock service at the Burlingame Hyatt House.

Paulette is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Bitting Jr. and Keith's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Melchoir Common. Both families live in South San Francisco.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Cathie Bitting and secondary attendants were Sharon Field and Patricia Owen, both of South San Francisco. Larry Previti was the best man and usher duties were shared by Kurt Common, Keith's brother, and Tom Bitting, Paulette's brother.

The bridegroom also is the brother of Greig, Glenn and Michael Common.

From Sea to Sea

TRAVELS WITH TERRY — By the time this column appears in print, this columnist will be long past Phoenix. And that's more than Glenn Campbell ever did!

I'm looking forward to this trip which will take the Missus and me from the blue Pacific to the angry Atlantic — from sea to shining sea.

People have said "you're nuts" when told it will be a motor trip across this land. Perhaps they are right and I AM nuts. But I must find out for myself what's going on in this land of mine. I'm tired of hearing today's radical youth tell me the United States of America is through, that democracy is all but washed up, that the country is sick and tired of what's going on and wants a change.

I'VE TRIED TO FIND out what is going on from behind this battered old desk. But that's impossible. And frankly I'm sick and tired of listening to others. I want to see for myself. I want to see if the great unscrubbed mouthy population that consumes so much space in local news media is as big and mouthy in the midwest, south and east as it is in the Bay Area.

And I want to see if our country reeks with decadence as these youth and so-called "anti-establishment" types charge.

There are folks out there I want to talk to about this country — the USA — who work in gasoline stations, truck drivers, farmers, waitresses, waiters, bums, police (NOT pigs). Folks who come in all sizes and can be mighty disagreeable and set in their ways. Perhaps these folks are as sick and tired as I am over what's being said. Maybe they want to hear about the Bay Area. If they do it will be my pleasure to tell them to hop out here and look around.

I'M NOT GOING by plane because I want to see the people in those small desert towns, the mountains, the lakes and streams. Once more before I die I sincerely want to learn what's going on in my country — not from the government, but from those people who live this land, who work this land, who own this land.

If I find that this country is going down the tubes it will come as a big disappointment. For many years my wife, who is now a proud naturalized citizen, has been told what a great land this is. She believed it when she sought her citizenship and it will be hard to convince her otherwise, although she has an open mind and is eager to see for herself.

AND IF THE RADICALS are correct? No doubt the realization will come as a shock. A stunning blow because all my boasting about America would be wrong, all the things I promised me as a youth would be lies. My love would turn to immediate hate for those who lied. There would be no gray areas in this change of heart.

Could my country have failed its purpose in its 200 years of self-government? Doubtful. Are the streams that I once fished now so polluted as to be black from shore to shore? Hopefully not.

However the government and the people have been awakened to this dire emergency and are doing something about it. Do the people that make up this symbol of freedom for all other people's of the world feel it is time to overthrow my duly elected officials by violent revolution as radicals predict? Frankly, we very much doubt it.

ALL THESE THINGS we hope to find out for ourselves as we drive through state after state, over those "purple mountains" that rise majestically from the desert floor only to drop back again to the Great Plains. Through the industrial areas of the east, past the monuments of history in Washington, Boston, and the silent majority of Arlington Cemetery, we will drive seeking answers to our questions.

Who cares what we will learn, some may ask? We care! It is important to us as individuals that we learn what is going on.

We are sick and tired of listening to those who jump at every opportunity to label government "corrupt" and America "finished." Because if America is finished, so ar its people you and me.

OTHER THINGS OTHER PLACES — Graffiti writers attention! The main Daly City library has painted out all those scribblings with darkgreen paint. Don't be too disappointed. A box of chalk has been installed so you can still put those sayings on the walls.

AL BELOTZ, pinchhitting for Ed Morgan as emcee at the chamber affair in D.C. the other p.m., asked Assemblyman Leo Ryan to send out his newsletter on a circular shaped paper rather than rectangular, "so we can use them at the bottom of our bird cages."

ANOTHER SAYING stolen by D.C. mayor Bud Lycett: "A written speech is like a kiss on the telephone — not very sweet, but safe."

SENATOR ARLEN GREGORIO reneged on his speaking date at the same Chamber meeting AFTER CONFIRMING IT.

What gives?

Is he already snubbing the people who elected him?

Daly City: 50 Years' Service

By SAM CHANDLER
Daly City Librarian

"Fifty years of service" — Today, in the middle of National Library Week, the City of Daly City will mark the golden anniversary of its public library.

In 1920, with fewer than 2000 books from a branch of the San Mateo County Library and a creed that began with the words, "Blessed are the cities that have good libraries," Daly City erected its first library on two lots donated by John D. Daly, father of the city that bears his name. The building costs were contributed by the citizens of the town with J. W. Marshbanks giving the largest amount.

Mrs. Jean O'Rourke was appointed city librarian.

The Daly City Public Library in 50 years has expanded to three buildings and 80,000 volumes. Yet its purpose remains the same: To serve the community by providing the materials the people of Daly City need to join in a nationwide movement to encourage people to read for the know-how and wisdom to build a better world.

The commemorative services will be held at 10:30 a.m. today in the original Daly City Public Library at 6351 Mission. The public is urged to attend.

A moratorium on fines has been declared. This will give everyone with overdue books a chance to return them with no fines or fees charged.

MRS. LUCILLE HOLLING'S attention is caught by book on dolls in Daly City library.

Sharing Thoughts

The office of a poet is to speak the thoughts that he shares with less eloquent people.

So here is Karl Shapiro writing what many people are thinking about what he terms "the farcical and absurd character of the Left rumpus," which, he says, "has served only to discredit the motives and the intelligence of the Movement."

"The trashy and anachronistic bohemianism of the college desidents and the street people, the trick-or-treat mentality of the demonstrations, their inability to understand, exercise, or keep order much less power all point to a general failure of imagination."

Shapiro's thoughts and poems were published in the May 1970 edition of Esquire.

Sestina: of the Militant Vocabulary

The first word you must know is relevant,
The qualifier of experience.
Relevant experience of the resolution,
For instance, trains you to confront the pigs,
The first defense line of the power structure,
Which guards insidiously the Establishment.
What we are after is the Establishment,

Which acts as if we are not relevant
And forces us to wreck the power structure.
This confrontation is an experience
Not only for the people but for the pigs
Whom we'll win over in the revolution.
When we make love we make the revolution,
As war is made by the Establishment,
For in our confrontation with the pigs
We prove to them that they're irrelevant
And immaterial to the experience,
Which in itself can wreck the power structure.

While pigs perpetuate the power structure,
Baby, be relevant to the revolution
Till we experience the Establishment.

People's Park

The new way to steal is to point at something and yell, "It's mine!"
The way an infant does with another infant's
toy;
And having screamed, "It's mine!" you proceed to posses it,
Screaming louder and louder and banging your ideological high chair,
Until a crowd collects and the TV cameras arrive
And the yellers really begin to believe "It's mine! It's mine!"
And the gleam of idealism is born in their eyes.

Hair

Nowadays youngish professors wear beardoes
Because they're afraid of their classes;
They don't want their clases to think they are asses
So they beard up their faces like weirdoes.
Some look like Lincoln, some look like Che,
Some look like Castro - anyway,
The clean-shaven face is now infra dig.
Please, somebody, try on the Jefferson wig.

Rock Festival

What they love is the herd,
The smell of the mob and the merde;
They shuffle in herds and bellow emptiness;
They low and stumble like kine;
They twitch like Holy Rollers in the mud;
They re-ivent a religion of cattle
And hurtle toward the nearest precipice
Possessed - like the Gadarene swine.

The Race

I wonder what ever happened to my rights,
Now that the blacks are better than the whites.

U.S. Role in Free World Needs Emphasis

This, the spring of 1971, is an ideal moment in history to consider the role of the United States in the free world. A quarter of a century of American leadership has passed; our engagement in a land war on the continent of Asia is about over; we have recently learned that our men are capable of atrocities and that many of our people are willing to support such acts in the name of patriotism, and we find the national spirit in a moment of question and doubt. No better time than this season of rebirth to consider our path for the next quarter century.

While the patterns of the past seldom yield answers to tomorrow's problems, consideration of our current weaknesses gives some hint as to our future posture. The most imposing truth respecting American leadership in the world is to be found in our internal, not external politics. True enough, our voices have quieted, but we remain divisive and torn. Our national will, at times in history a strong and afirmative light, is fitful and flickering. The rest of the world knows this and hesitates in following American initiatives. The divided cannot lead, and a nation with serious internal schisms must first heal these if it harbors pretensions of external influence.

The crucial importance of national reconciliation can be found in the fact that the future of the free world is dependent upon American leadership. Without it there is great danger that little of that free world would exist in 25 years. So nations of Western Europe, South America, Asia, Africa and the Near and Far East all look to the ailing giant to see if our lingering illness of the spirit can be cured.

The art of the practical has long governed our internal politics, but has by no means been the hallmark of foreign and defense policy. From now on these will have to be considered not only in terms of what will work in the world but what will be supported by the American people. A lack of sensitivity to the limitations of power will not only weaken our influence but will also tend to bring a part of the world's conflicts within our own geographic borders. Our initial problem is to establish attitudes and policies that tend to unite the American people, and then to act in ways that mold us into a single and effective voice.

No policy will work without hope and ours should have as its foundation hope of human survival and well being. Even in the face of insult and intransigence we should be ever ready to discuss and negotiate. After 25 years of living under the threat of holocaust our people understand the potential blessing of arms limitation. They also know that nations working together are more likely to succeed in such fields as science, medicine, environmental protection, and space and oceanic exploration.

A portion of our population is fearful of "hope" and of "do gooders." Let it be sufficient answer to them that our foreign policy can only be effective when supported by large majorities and that such numbers are not available in the absence of hope and of hopeful people.

Our policy should be affirmative. In world politics it's easy to play on fears and be "agin-ners." But attitudes of negativism or of protection of the status quo seldom inspire. Thus, for example, just being against North Vietnamese communism has failed to mobilize a workable majority of the American people in support of the Southeast Asian conflict. The additional numbers could only have been found through enthusiasm for the Thieu-Ky government and its aspirations for the South Vietnamese people.

Inclusion of the people in the decision making process is essential. The American electorate seems fully willing to speak through our democratic and representative form of government but will not tolerate any short-circuiting of the system. The process of building up the Vietnam War was a model of non-participation and it probably was our last Presidential war. While a President has broad authority as Commander-in-Chief and posseses the incredible power of fait accompli, it is highly doubtful that the present or future Presidents will follow the Johnsonian path. The lesson is too plain.

An understanding of our physical limitations is required. Not the least of these is monetary. We have gone through 25 years of high preparedness and face 25 years of at least equal challenge. And after that? Quite possibly 25 and 25 and 25 and more. Hopefully this will not be so, but under present assumptions our defense should be long term and our competence carefully preserved. To blow away billions on non-essential projects cannot help but weaken our ability to live with at least two other super powers. Thus, the cost of the Vietnam War will be felt in the year 2000 and beyond.

Our defense posture should be seen in two separate parts. One, that of atomic response, must remain massive, alert and up to date until the happy day of meaningful arms limitation. The other must be viewed as more limited than we once thought. Saturation bombing cannot obliterate the simple truth that conventional bombs are not all that effective against moving or concealed targets. It is reasonable to conclude that we can do well in wars that allow us to attack centers of production, but that most likely modern wars will find these beyond reach as they have been during the present war.

The greatest limitation of our power will be the moral sense of the American people. When we believe that our aims and methods are in the interest of national and human good, public opioion can be formidable indeed. But in the long run we will only support policies that aspire to the angels and not the brute. A flurry of telegrams notwithstanding, the heart of America will never condone atrocity or genocide.

This column has considered some of the limitations of the will and power of the United States. It is submitted that recognition of such realities is the way to strength, not weakness, and that a reconciliation of the American spirit is the first essential step toward leadership and peace.

'Once Upon a Time There Was a Red Hen...'

Editor, The Post:

Once upon a time, you have been told, there was a Little Red Hen. She was an industrious little cluck and decided to plant some wheat to make bread.

She had some friends who said they'd be glad to eat the bread, but when time came to plant the wheat and to water it and to reap it, her friends in the barnyard had a lot of excuses. When it came time to bake the bread the Cow said "That's overtime for me," the Duck said "I'm a dropout and never learned how," the Pig said "I'd lose my welfare benefits," and the Goose said "It would be discrimination if I'm the only one working." So the Little Red Hen baked five loaves all by herself and held them up for her neighbors to see.

"I want some," said the Cow. "I want some," said the Duck. "I want some," said the Pig. "I want my share," said the Goose. "No," said the Little Red Hen, "I'll rest for awhile and eat the five loaves myself." "Excess profits," cried the Cow. "Capitalistic leech," screamed the Duck. "Company fink," screamed the Goose. "Equal rights," grunted the Pig.

They hurriedly painted picket signs and marched around the Little Red Hen, singing "We Shall Overcome" and then did for the owner came to investigate the commotion. He said, "You must not be greedy, Little Red Hen. Look at the oppressed Cow. Look at the disadvantaged Duck. Look at the underprivileged Pig. Look at the less fortunate Goose. You are guilty of making second-class citizens of them."

"But-but-but . . . I earned the bread," said the Little Red Hen. "Exactly," the wise owner said, "that's the wonderful free enterprise system: anybody can earn as much as he wants. You should be happy to have this freedom. In other barnyards you would have to give all five loaves to the owner. Here you give only four loaves to your suffering neighbors."

And they all lived happily ever after, including the Little Red Hen, who smiled and smiled and clucked, "I am grateful, I am grateful." But her neighbors wondered why she never baked any more bread.

Editor, The Post:

Far too often in recent years, South San Francisco City Employees have been subjects of controversy and criticism (whether warranted or not). As seems to be the habit of many of us to criticize rather than to congratulate.

There is one man who has handled his duties superbly, and is to be commended; I'm referring to our Assistant City Manager, Larry Ross. This man has handled his own duties superbly, and on numerous occasions has had to handle the duties of City Manager, each time exceedingly well.

I know this feeling is shared by many residents of South San Francisco, so let's give thanks where thanks is due.

Editor, The Post,

I am writing in regard to the "nuisance" charge that has been made against San Francisco's County Jail No. 2, located in San Bruno, by a few of the politicians of San Mateo County.

My home is located across the street from this jail and, for obvious reasons, I am very much concerned IF there is a proven lack of security within this jail. If security within the jail is lacking, then this condition must be corrected at once.

I am also concerned that the "nuisance" charge against the jail may be highly political in nature and simply be a scheme to force San Francisco County to relocate this facility so that land developers can start construction of a large apartment housing complex at the present jail site. The removal of this county farm jail would be a great expense to San Francisco County and be to the detriment of San Mateo County by the annihilation of a beautiful open space — game refuge — water shed area, an area from which Portola first saw "The Bay."

Bicycle Thefts: 87 in 3 Months

EIGHTY-SEVEN bicycles were reported to the San Bruno Police Department as being stolen in the first three months of 1971. During this same period only 21 of these bicycles were recovered. Each represents an average loss to the owner of approximately $75.

This represents a total loss in the neighborhood of $5,000 for just three months. In an attempt to apprehend violators a series of plans were utilized over an eight-day period resulting in the apprehension of eighth youths attempting to steal four separate bicycles.

The violators were prepared with bolt cutters and already had cut the chains and begun to drive away when apprehended. Two of the bold cutters were stolen from surrounding high schools.

It is significant to note that after we apprenended one violator and contacting his mother it was determined that he had another bicycle at home. This item was a new 10-speed boy's bicycle, originally costing in excess of $100, yet his mother was satisfied with the story that her son had legally purchased the bike from a friend for $5.

How convenient it is to be so gullible, believing that the transaction was as stated. If every parent made sure that their children complied with the law, by licensing their bicycles with their local city, a great number of the bikes recovered could be returned to the rightful owners.

Additionally, we have found that a license on a bicycle serves as a deterrent to violators, who fear apprehension because of the license.

Bicycle operators are encouraged to maintain a full description of their bikes including the serial and license number. Frequently a bike may be stolen or recovered in a neighboring city.

Periodic cross checks are made of stolen and recovered bikes in these neighboring cities but all too frequently because of insufficient recorded data we are unable to return a number of bikes to the rightful owner.

Warriors Take NPL Lead

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Correspondent

South San Francisco High School's dormant bats awoke with a thunder Friday afternoon and the Warriors shot into a full-game lead in the North Peninsula League baseball chase.

Bob Brian's new-look free swingers came from far behind to down the visiting Jefferson Indians, 6-4, while Half Moon Bay edged into second place with a 5-1 victory over slumping Westmoor High School. In other conference action last week, Terra Nova blanked winless Oceana, 2-0, and Serramonte got its second NPL win in a row, 9-5, over El Camino.

Down 3-0 on Kenny Smith's tremendous first-inning three-run homer, the Warriors scrapped back until a four-run sixth inning got them the victory. Pat Tolentino started things off with a single and winning pitcher Pete Enea got one of his three basehits. Rightfielder Marty DeMerritt then parked one over the Orange Park cones for a three-run homer and a 5-4 advantage all Enea needed.

Enea, now 3-0 in the NPL, only struck out two but pitched extremely well after a shaky first inning. Smith, who kept alternating with Smoky Morton on the mound, was the victim of DeMerritt's blast and the loser.

Half Moon Bay played superb and at times spectacular defense in pulling into second place behind the Warriors. Winning pitcher Frankie Reyes was not as sharp as he has been, but he kept throwing strikes and the Cougars kept gobbling up everything on the field.

Rightfielder Dale Seis robbed leadoff hitter Ted Grey of a hit in the first inning with a great diving catch of a hard line drive. Centerfielder Tom Salet made one of the most spectacular diving, full-speed, somersaulting catches ever seen in these parts in the third to pull Reyes out of difficulty then.

It was Westmoor's shoddy defense which did the Rams in. They committed six errors including a dropped outfield fly and four infield throwing errors — all at crucial times. The last bases loaded wild throw allowed three runs to score in the decisive fifth frame.

Lefty Bud Papadakis breezed along with a two-hit, 11-strikeout performance in hurling the Terra Nova victory. Never in any real trouble, Papadakis struck out seven in a row at one stretch between the second and fourth innings and walked just three.

Steve Humphrey walked and went to second on a passed ball before an infield error allowed him to score the Tigers' first run. Al Saisi got the final run on a fielder's choice, two stolen bases and a single by Lee Shackleford in the final frame.

T.N. Upsets SSF, Rams are Downed

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Correspondent

The standings had not changed much but the race was tightened up considerably in the rugged North Peninsula League baseball race last week.

South San Francisco was upset by Terra Nova April 13, 6-2. Westmoor High School lost a chance to pick up some ground on the Warriors when the Rams dropped a close 5-4 decision to El Camino. Serramonte ended its winless streak at Oceana's expense, 2-1, and the only other MPL game, Jefferson at Half Moon Bay, was rained out.

Junior righthander John Racanelli was tough enough to handle the slumping Warriors, losers of three of their last four outings. The Terra Nova pitcher struck out just four but had the Warriors hitting his pitch most of the day. In only the sixth inning did the Warriors mount a strong attack, getting one run, and only good defense and a cooperative wind that kept two shots to leftfield airborne helped him out of that scrape.

The Tigers struck for four runs to take a 5-0 lead in the second inning when Racanelli singled, Pat Lehr singled and Ron Mendez walked. A balk on SSF pitcher Marty DeMerritt drove in one run before Steve Humphrey and Lee Shackleford put together singles for the final three runs.

A fluke play off a suicide squeeze situation enabled El Camino to get that winning run in last Tuesday's seventh inning against Westmoor. Thirdbaseman Vacary Bucsit led off the final frame by singling, stealing second and going to third on an infield error. With one out Al Spitzer attempted to drop down the winning bunt but it popped up instead and flew over the head of the firstbaseman, who was charging hard to handle the play.

Rick Green took the victory with a five-hitter.

Lou Hudson's sharp seventh-inning single drove in pinchitter Howard Kaplan with the winning run in Serramonte's first 1971 NPL win. Winning pitcher John Stack struck out five and walked four in throwing his four-hitter. An infield error had allowed Serramonte to score in the first.

Alert eyes on the infield saved Serramonte in the sixth also. After Tom Harper had been hit by a Stack pitch, catcher Miles Mintel apparently put Oceana ahead with a resounding triple. But Harper neglected to touch third on the way around, he was detected by the Regents and called out.

MPL Foes Close in On Panthers

While Mid-Peninsula League baseball leader Burlingame was idle on Friday, the jackals closed in behind.

1970 champion Aragon moved into contention, dumping Hillsdale 4-0 and dropping the Knights into a second place tie with San Mateo Bearcats, who edged Mills 1-0. Crestmoor notched its first win of the dampaign, downing Capuchino 6-2.

Burlingame leads the loop at 2-0, but even winless Cap is only two games back — the wins by Aragon and San Mateo bunched the rest of the league tightly in the middle.

Aragon hurler Dan DeLaCruz, showing the form that made him the most consistent hurler in the MPL last year, set the host Knights down on four hits, striking out five and walking two.

Aragon notched its first tally in the top of the third. Myron Stumpf singled, the Hillsdale loaded the bases on a catcher's interference call and an error. John Goulding singled Stumph home.

The Dons' Dave Landeck robbed Hillsdale of a scoring chance in the second. There were two Knights on base with two out when Landeck made a diving catch of a long line drive for the third out.

The Dons are now 1-1, a game out of first; Hillsdale, at 2-1, is tied for second with San Mateo, a half game out.

San Mateo played its best ball in edging the visiting Vikings — the Bearcats didn't make a single error, and although they only scored one run, they threatened in nearly every inning.

Bearcat hurler Jim Lysgaard proved as effective as teammate Mark Langridge, allowing just two hits while striking out eight and walking two.

Mills pitcher Steve Rich was in trouble more than once but kept San Mateo off the scoreboard until the bottom of the last inning.

Steve Jensen led off for the Bearcats, hanging in for a 3-2 count and then drawing a walk. Rich Lewis went in for Jensen as a pinch runner. Lysgaard sacrificed Lewis to second.

Lewis went to third on a wild pitch. Rich Yamaguma tried in vain to get him home on a squeeze. Keith Rice walked to put runners on first and third. Then Dick Grimsley hit a high hopper, a tough chance which the Vike infielder bobbled to let Lewis home with the game-winning run.

Mills, now 1-2, is tied with Crestmoor for fifth spot.

Crestmoor dropped Cap into sole proprietorship of the cellar. Pitcher Ken Bowman, a stalwart for the Falcons all spring long, gave up two runs but only four hits, striking out six.

The Falcons opened strong, with four quick runs in the top of the first. George Ama and Steve Dallas drew walks. Dave Azzopardi singled to load the bases. Rick Catalano doubled to clear the bases. Paul Grossman scored Catalano on a sacrifice fly. That was all the cushion Bowman needed.

Cap scored both its runs in the fourth. Scott Kusich and Terry Ruggles both singled, and moved to first and third on a wild pitch. Dennis Haag walked to load the bases, and Frank Dove knocked an off-field single to score Kusich and Ruggles.

Rams, Serramonte Triumph

Times and distances suffered in the windy conditions of the North Peninsula League Friday at Westmoor and Serramonte came up with conference wins.

The Westmoor Rams downed Oceana, 90½-45½, while Serramonte came up with a 73-45 partial-event win over Half Moon Bay in the day's only action.

Oceana was without the services of star distance men Ernie Ribera and Mike Root and consequently lost points in the two-mile, mile, 440 and relay races. Westmoor's Jeff Orlich doubled in the sprints with a good 10.2 race in the 100 while Larry Kermabon won his specialty with a below-par (for him) 6-1 high jump.

Rene LaGuardia doubled in the shot put and discus events to lead the Regents to their shortened victory.

At Long Last—Pad Nine Wins

It's probably no coincidence that Serra High School won its first West Catholic Athletic League baseball game just about the time junior shortstop Steve Folan started hitting.

The Padres whipped host St. Francis last Friday afternoon, 7-4, for its first WCAL win against four losses. And Folan had a lot to do with it.

Folan had missed most of the practice season, and when he joined the team he found himself in a minor hitting slump. He broke that slump yesterday with three screaming triples in four times at bat, and four runs batted in.

Mark Souza started things going for the Padres in the top of the first with a single. Folan stepped up and tripled him home. Then pitcher Steve Viehweg singled up the middle to bring in Folan.

St. Francis came up with three in the bottom of the first, but Serra struck back immediately.

Charlie Soulard opened the second for the Pads with a walk. Mansfield singled, and the pair moved to second and third on an error. Souza walked to load the bases. Enter Folan, who pounded another triple over the left-fielder's head for three more tallies.

Viehweg settled down after a shaky first inning, allowing one more run in the third. He got stronger as the game went on, working his fastball for five strikeouts.

The Pads, who had come into the WCAL with a very impressive 11-0 record and with the credentials to win the 1971 title, had another tale of woe to tell April 13.

Riordan High School, behind the hitting and pitching of Jim Mariluch, took a 4-1 decision from the Padres at Fitzgerald Field. The loss dropped Serra just about out of the WCAL title-picture with a 0-4 mark.

Serra took the initiative in the contest in the first inning when, with one out, Vince O'Leary rapped a single to start things going. McGlennon then singled to left to send O'Leary to second and Mark Souza followed with another safety which scored O'Leary. McGlennon got caught in a run-down between second and third to quell any further Serra uprising.

Things went normal for the Padres until the top of the fifth inning when Mariluch came to bat with two men on. The Crusader hurler rapped a long, twisting fly down the right field line which disappeared into the trees while the Riordan runners were scurrying around the basepaths. The result was a three-run homer for the visitors.

Riordan tallied an insurance run in the fifth to put the capper on the scoring.

Although he was again involved in a losing effort, Souza pitched a commendable game, striking out eight while walking just one.

Ump Team Times

IT WAS AN UNUSUAL SIGHT, at the San Francisco State College Easter Baseball Tournament. A father and son umpiring team, and what an irony! Joe Gaggero senior and junior, same in name, basically the same in temperament, from a distance almost identical physically, and a duo that, when Joe Jr. was a teenager, set the distance record for a generation gap.

Only they didn't argue about the usual things, like girls and drugs and cars and politics. They beefed over how to pitch to hitters. And Joe Jr. never got chewed out for anything so mundane as coming home late. He was ripped for not covering first on a slow roller to the first baseman, or not backing up third base. Because Joe Jr., you see, played sandlot and semi-pro baseball for his father.

Joe Sr., who year-in and year-out, has probably been the best semi-pro ump in the Bay Area for the past quarter century (he was the first ump we ever saw with the guts to wear glasses; and one of the few who isn't so arrogant that he won't consult a rule book right out there on the diamond), at one time was the Mahatma of semi-pro-sandlot ball.

He operated his own personal farm system. It was possible to start playing for Joe at age 12 in what they used to call a C Novice League (there were no Little Leagues, Babe Ruth Leagues, etc., in those days), and work right on up through to the semi-professional leagues. If Joe ran out of sponsors, he'd sponsor the team himself, which wasn't easy on the gardener's salary he got for manicuring Funston Playground's baseball fields. He would have made money umpiring steadily, but he preferred working with kids.

Joe and Ron, the younger brother, both went on to play for Cal's last national championship team in 1957, signed pro contracts, Ron with the Cardinals, Joe with the Yankees, and put in several years in the minors. Joe is now in charge of the baseball program for the San Francisco Recreation Department, and has developed into a fine umpire, himself. Ron is a basketball official and junior high school coach.

But I digress. The first thing Joe Sr. said to me when he saw me at the tournament was, "What ever happened to the writeup for my dogs?"

I told him I had been waiting for baseball season, which was true. He was referring to a comment I had made at the end of last season that his dogs deserved a writeup.

Joe Sr. has always had this weakness of picking up strays, dogs or baseball players. He always had the nucleous of a team in his sons and their friends, and then he'd wait until all the fast talkers had conned the best players into playing for them, and Joe would pick up the left-overs.

In those days if you hung around Portola Playground long enough and looked wistfully enough at the kids going through their paces for Joe, eventually he would say, "You want to play kid?" and if you said yes, you played, somewhere. If you weren't good enough to make Joe's team, or if his roster was already filled, he'd find a spot for you on a rival team, if he was first assured by the manager that you would play. If you had no equipment, Joe would take you across the street to his house, usher you into the basement, rummage through a huge cardboard box with odds and ends of baseball equipment, and come up with a glove for you, and maybe, of you were real lucky, even a pair of spikes.

THEN JOE WOULD TAKE US strays and scare hell out of us with bursts of bellowed profanity which would turn red the faces of Little League Officials nowadays, and work our tails off on things he called the fundaments, like giving us bunting instead of hitting practice, and rounds of infield until some of us would literally collapse; and then he would enter us in leagues (often considered by most to be "too fast" for us and play what he lovingly called "inside baseball," and we almost always came in one-two with such unheard of techniques for kids as bunt and runs and taking two bases on fly balls, and like that.

Playing for Joe, obviously, wasn't always easy. I once came home from a practice crying and saying I'd never play again. I was back the next day, getting chewed out and exhausted. Some kids wouldn't be able to take it. They'd quit and bad-mouth Joe, call him a crank and worse, but the ones who stuck (and it was most of us) would never play for anybody else, and somehow, through all the physical and verbal abuse, they would end up liking and respecting Joe Gaggro, probably because he had had the good sense never to study child psychology.

Like, Joe wasn't afraid to call you a knucklehead if you threw to the wrong base even if your whole family was in the stands and heard him say it. And if your father got upset, Joe would call HIM a knucklehead and order him back to the stands because, "I'm running' this — damned team." Joe got swung at more than once, but he never lost control of a team, and usually ended up a friend of the kid's family.

But if his team lost in the last inning when the shortstop bobbled the ball and let two runs in, Joe more likely than not would tell the shortstop to "shake it off," and treat the team to ice cream cones after the game, because as Joe always said, "You can't help a physical error. We ain't all Dimaggios. But there's no — damned excuse for mental errors."

Joe did other mean things. If you missed a practice or showed up late for a game, he'd bench you, even if you were the best player on the team, even if you were his son. The only excuse a guy had for missing a game, or coming late, was if he had been to church, but then he'd better have a good reason for not making an earlier — or later — Mass.

But kids were willing to "endure" all of this for a slap on the back from Joe every once in a while, and the simple accolade, "Dammit, now you're a ball player."

Joe's only boast was, "I treat everybody alike." And it was a legitimate claim. Everybody got chewed out equally. He would come home after beautifying Funston all day, take a gander at what the gardener at Portola had done that day to mutilate Joe's beloved diamond, charge out to the field with rake in hand, chew out the gardener, and re-do the diamond while his supper got cold. His wife, Jeanette, whom he once farmed out to manage one of his C novice teams, was almost always the scorekeeper, and if she goofed, he'd chew her out. And when his sister-in-law, Camille, was around, which she usually was, he'd chew her out on general principles. If he thought his mother-in-law, who used to be at every game, had asked a ridiculous question about the game, he'd yell at her, "—dammit Grandma, open your eyes." Like his players, Joe's family never played for anybody else.

Now Joe is retired, and this one particular day that I passed his house at

Crestmoor Vaulter Goes 14-6

Panthers Lose Meet

By RON REID

Under normal circumstances, dogs break into the athletic spotlight only during football season, when they chase around between the 30-yard lines, vexing referees and kickoff return specialists.

But a mangy black mutt made an unseasonal appearance at the Burlingame High School track Thursday, which may explain why the Panthers' reign as MPL champion obviously will be "cur-tailed."

The dog, as it turned out, had little to do with the dual meet struggle the Panthers were involved with, which ultimately went the way of tenacious Crestmoor, 72-63.

Obviously in a hurry for an important date with a fire hydrant, the errant pooch lumbered out on the track during the 880 and knocked Burlingame's Ron Steil right on the middle of his aspirations.

Game kid that he is, Steil got up to finish third (2:13.0) behind Crestmoor's Gary Hicklin (1:59.0) and Mike Paul (2:05.4) but the incident seemed to set the tone for the competition that followed. From that point on, the Falcons got their necessary points in big and little ways for their fourth straight MPL dual meet victory without defeat.

In gaining revenge for last year's loss to Burlingame, the Falcons got their big points from sprinter Chuck Bommarito and field event ace Steve Trueman.

The latter was particularly impressive as he won the pole vault with a 14-6 effort that qualifies as the second-best vault mark in Northern California to date. Steve also took the long jump at 20-7.

Bommarito, the big sprinter who will have to go out of his league to find someone to make him run scared, breezed through the 100 and 220 with respective times of 10.0 and 22.4. He also anchored the Falcon 440 relay team to a 44-flat first and finished second in the discus with a lifetime best of 140 feet, six inches.

The Falcons' little points came from six third places that proved to be their margin of victory. Crestmoor also got unexpected firsts from Joel Kirkpatrick, who clocked 9:57.9 in the two mile, and from Bart Pierce, a 20.7 winner in the low hurdles.

Burlingame's best effort was Dave Montaya's 4:23.0 mile.

In other MPL competition, Hillsdale got a 15-point performance from Terry Webb en route to a 74-60 conquest of Capuchino and Mills knocked off Aragon, 81-54.

Webb, who vaulted 14-3½ 12 days earlier, cleared 14-1 against Cap for the best of his three victories, which also included a 15.3 mark for the high hurdles and a 5-4 high jump that must have been contested into a quicksand pit. Webb has leaped over six feet on other days.

Hillsdale's most inspirational effort, however, may have come from Jim Pombo, another vaulter who suffered a head injury last month. Under doctor's orders to preclude running from his athletic pursuits, Pombo figured he still could make a contribution to the Knights' track team by throwing the discus.

So against Cap, Pombo's dedicaton paid off with a 132-2 victory that is the Knights' best mark in that event this season. Moreover, Pombo just learned how to throw the platter shortly befort the meet.

The Knights were additionally blessed by Dan Clark's horizontal jump double, which came on respective marks of 21-3 and 41-7¼.

The Mills-Aragon matchup provided few impressive performances, save for the Vikings' Bill Kahn, who high-jumped six feet even. The Dons' John Sheehan, one of the better MPL milers, moved up to the two mile and won in 10:05.3.

"I think now we can figure on no worse than a tie," Crestmoor Coach Ron Etherton said after the Falcons' victory.

FLYING FALCON—Crestmoor's Steve Trueman clears pole vault bar easily at preliminary height on his way to winning the event at 14 feet, six inches in yesterday's MPL dual meet with Burlingame. Trueman's mark has been bettered only by a fraction in Northern California prep competition this season. Steve's brother, Bill, was second at 13-0.

the end of last baseball season, there was Joe about to take his six, count 'em, six dogs for a walk.

None of them were on leashes. They all followed Joe to the corner, and then on bellowed command ("—dammit, sit."), sat on their haunches in apparently pre-designated positions. Joe crossed the street, made sure no cars were coming, and then blew his old coach's whistle. They all scampered across the street, in formation, and then went about the business of walking the way dogs walk, almost, one felt, as if rehearsed.

WHEN THEY RETURNED from their round-the-block sortie, Joe took me into the house and introduced me to his newest, a tiny mongrel named Bubbles, whom he claimed he had taught to sing, and then demonstrated same. And damned if the dog, between the times he was lapping Joe's eyes, ears, nose and throat, didn't sing at least as well as Joe Cocker, and certainly better than his mentor. We asked Joe why Bubbles hadn't been out with the rest of the dogs. He said that Bubbles had been promised to his sister-in-law, but that he wasn't yet ready for the regular walks. Joe didn't want to give his sister-in-law an untrained dog (Note: at this writing, Joe still claims Bubbles — now fully trained — because, he says, his sister-in-law won't take him.)

Then, at our insistance, he took Bubbles out with the rest of the troop to demonstrate how he was training Bubbles to properly go out for walks. This time, however, he brought a leash with him. When we got outside, he hooked it around Bubbles' neck, and then placed the leash in the mouth of the "lead" dog. Again Joe shouted them into formation, walked across the street, blew the whistle — and the lead dog escorted Bubbles across the street on through the rest of the walk!

Joe rubbed his hands together ecstatically, and then nudged me. "See that Punch," he said proudly ("Punch" being short for "Punchy," a nickname Joe had hung on me once for one of my excursions on the base paths), "Just like I used to train my ballplayers. . . . Chew 'em out, teach 'em the fundamentals, show 'em the tricks. It might hurt once in a while, but they'll never get run over."

And then Joe trotted off after his dogs.

Tollner Rumored New CSM Coach

THEY COME SO FEW and far between we have to take what little credit there is, you know. Speaking of the forecast we had a few weeks ago that College of San Mateo football coach Bill Dickey would be leaving the Bulldogs for duty at Stanford University. That came true last week.

The man to fill Dickey's shoes hasn't been officially chosen yet but it appears assistant coach Ted Tollner, according to those "reliable sources" we frequently use, has the inside track. That, in our opinion, would be an excellent choice as well as a logical

ALTHOUGH THIS ISN'T OFFICIAL, yet, either, it appears that Oceana High School will have a new head varsity football coach in September. Long-time head man Jess Jones is scheduled for a sabbatical leave and it looks like young Ed Larios, a pass-catching whiz a few seasons back at San Francisco State College, will get the new varsity assignment.

PROBABLY ONE OF THE BIGGEST surprises all baseball season has been the South San Francisco Warriors' squad. Every year Bob Brian's lads play excellent baseball — they always are in contention and have won a few league titles. But in the past the Warriors have relied mainly on a strong defense, bunting and base stealing. They often won games where they managed two or three hits in the full seven innings.

But this season the change is dramatic. They seldom bunt, they seldom steal and they are hitting the cover off the ball.

Priest Describes Torturous Life

By FRANK LaPIERRE and DONNA STARR

Father Robert Francis Duryea Jr. last week described the torturous life he has led during the past seven years.

The 50-year-old ousted pastor of St. Peter's Church in Pacifica was excommunicated and relieved of his parish duties Monday by Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken after he learned Father Duryea had been secretly married.

Whether to choose between "someone I love" and the church has put him through much agony since his marriage in 1964, he explained last night.

A spokesman for the Archdiocese said Father Duryea's marital status was incompatible with the Roman Catholic Church's rule of clerical celibacy.

But Father Duryea disagrees.

He feels that marriage did not detract from his role as a priest.

Many of St. Peter's parishioners feel the same way.

They support Father Duryea's action and said they would like him to continue on in Pacifica — married or not.

In a prepared "position paper," the Parish Council of St. Peter's, which consists of 15 lay men and women elected by the community, said if it was possible to keep Father Duryea in the church they would try.

At the same time, they noted this would be impossible under present celibacy rules.

Their attention should now be focused on the new pastor, Father Lawrence Purcell, they said.

More than 600 of the 4,000 members of St. Peter's turned out for Father Duryea's farewell message last night.

By a vote of 604 to 38 they lined up in support of the priest.

As Father Duryea entered the church and walked down the aisle to his seat, people rose and gave him a standing ovation.

He was dressed in the traditional black suit and clerical collar — possibly for the last time.

"My purpose here (in Pacifica) has been to bring people together and to love God," Father Duryea said, after expressing his gratitude for the parishioners' support.

Father Duryea felt that someday, "I shall return."

This will come about when the Catholic Church recognizes that the celibacy rule must be modified, he said.

Commenting on celibacy, the Father said for the past eight or nine centuries mandatory celibacy has been the rule for a priest.

In today's changing world, he felt that this law has "outgrown the rationale behind it."

"I'm not saying that celibacy hasn't got a meaning. I think that celibacy has a real form of dedication and something given up voluntarily in the name of one's religious life has great value," Father Duryea said.

He said the answer to questions arising from this rule seems to be to make celibacy a voluntary act, polltakers have shown.

Duryea said he was sorry he was being forced to leave the church.

"I must admit that I feel it's a temporary leaving — that the law will be changed," he said. "I think it must be changed for the practical life of at least the American church. I can't speak for Europe but I think that Europe is a little bit ahead of us on many things in this regard.

"I think it must be changed and I simply am going to consider myself on the shelf in a sort of laid off position," Father Duryea said.

Asked when he first decided to take this course of action, Father Duryea replied:

"I never set out to be a crusader, it just sort of happened over the years as a growing thing."

He first questioned the law while attending the seminary some 25 years ago.

Even then, celibacy was a key issue and a number of priests left the priesthood because of it," he said.

"You only make decisions up as far as you can see, "Father Duryea explained on the matter of his marriage. "When the decision had to be made whether I was to leave someone that I loved or leave the church, I didn't want to do either one.

"And so I made the decision to try and reconcile the two previously inimical ideas. And as the years went by I just deepened my conviction that the two things weren't mutually exclusive. Though I don't say I set out to prove it, both things mattered to me very much and one not more than the other," Father Duryea said.

Didn't the secrecy of his marriage to a San Jose woman and the birth of a son (named Paul after Pope Paul) present problems for him?

Until recently the marriage was not a problem. But his son is almost six years old, old enough to reason and ask questions, he answered.

Although the Archbishop had offered to petition for laicization, Father Duryea refused it because "it would be a contradiction of all I have tried to do — and prove."

His wife, who he refused to name because of possible reprisals against her and his son, has never asked him to choose between her or the church, he said.

"In fact her faith . . . in what I am trying to do has allowed (us) to carry on and helped her to make the greater sacrifice . . ." Father Duryea said.

His wife did not belong to the Catholic Church prior to their marriage, Father Duryea explained.

She adopted the faith at the time of their marriage although she always had deep Christian feelings,he said.

The 'Magic Lamp' Opens in Millbrae

"The Magic Lamp" a new play version of the classic fable of the peasant boy Aladdin and his amazing friend, the fantastic Genie of the Magic Lamp, began a new series of plays Saturday at the Millbrae Playhouse, one of the oldest theatre companies in the Bay Area.

This new play, here in it's first public performance, was written by Richard Ramos, a former Peninsula high school drama instructor, who is currently working in the professional theatre in New York, after two years at the Tyrone Guthrie Theatre in Minneapolis. Ramos was a graduate of San Francisco State College and a student of Jules Irving, co-director of the original San Francisco Actor's Workshop. Ramos has authored several plays particularly noted for their appeal to audiences of both children and adults together.

This production initiates a new series of plays to be presented in repertory style at the theatre, under the direction of John Rechtfertig. Rechtfertig, who directed last Fall's successful production of "Dracula" at the theatre, plans to run a variety of plays with simplified staging concurrently, so that a given week-end will find two or more different plays in performance at the Playhouse. The company plans to include modern plays, classics, musicals, children's fantasies, and original works among its offerings. In the immediate future, the group will open George Bernard Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion" in May and tentatively plans to produce "The Fourposter," "Hamlet," and an original musical during the summer months.

Fernando Chosen Intermediate Site

Fernando Rivera school in Daly City will become an intermediate school next year.

Trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District took the action in an attempt to reduce the enrollment at Ben Franklin Intermediate School in Colma.

The realignment proposed by Supt. Frank Greenwood will leave Franklin School with about 943 seventh and eighth graders instead of nearly 1100.

Approximately 400 seventh and eighth grade pupils will be housed at Rivera.

Greenwood explained that about 41 other pupils present at Rivera will stay as sixth graders. They will attend the same program as the two upper grades, Greenwood said.

He said the experiment of involving three grades together would allow the local educators to observe a "middle-school" situation and the compatibility of sixth graders to svventh and eighth grade students.

The plan, Greenwood said, will slice the Ben Fraklin enrollment to a desirable and workable size and reduce the need for two portable classrooms there.

It would eliminate the need for some Ben Franklin teachers to change rooms every period, Greenwood said.

The plan also calls for elimination of the seventh grade classes at Garden Village and Daniel Webster schools. Greenwood said, however, that he might consider retention of a seventh grade class at another school if there is sufficient parental clamor for one.

The board's action is an interim move, trustees pointed out, until a permanent housing program is developed.

Some trustees were concerned with bond expenditures in the face of possible future enrollment booms through the development of San Bruno Mountain by the Crocker Land Company.

Announcement of Crocker intentions was made this week.

He said the educators could observe the compatibility of sixth graders with seventh and eighth grade pupils. He described the grouping as a "middle school" concept which has received favorable comment over the years.

The trustees decided against conversion of either Abraham Lincoln or Daniel Webster schools. While the costs were less, the disruption of students was greater, the board agreed.

The board similarly shelved any action on constructing anything on the Savage School site.

Know Europe Meeting Set for Students

Sixteen students and their parents will attend a "Get to Know Europe" day at 2 p.m., Sunday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Fox in Daly City.

The students will accompany the Foxes on a six-week tour of Europe, sponsored by the Foreign Study League.

Mrs. Fox said that the Sunday meeting will be to orient the students in European travel and sightseeing.

The tour will land in Rome, go to Switzerland, Munich, Paris, Holland and London, as well as Austria and Liechtenstein.

Among those accepted for the trip are Nina Berglund, Kent Bloom, Perry Fox, Judith Leff, Robin Fross, Mitch Fox, Linda Wyatt, Denise Sawyer, M Hays, Lauren McFalls, Jay Bagley, Scott Kessling, Jim Gerhardt, Philip Poburka, Karen Thorson and Laura Holsten.

Other reservations for the trip will be accepted by the Foxes until May 1. Interested students and parents may attend Sunday's meeting at 228 Del Prado Drive, Daly City.

2 Injured In Pacifica 4-Car Crash

Two persons were injured in a four-car crash on curvy, rain-slicked Sharp Park Road in Pacifica Tuesday.

Pacifica Police patrolman Larry Luster said a small, foreign made car struck a rear wheel of a 27,000 pound truck and trailer rig at 6:45 a.m.

Injured were Delmar A. Peterson, 20, of 2421 Palmetto Avenue, who was pinned in the wreckage of his car for nearly 45 minutes, and the unidentified driver of another car.

Peterson was rushed first to Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City, then to Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco with serious injuries.

The patrolman said Arthur Greco Jr. of 983 White Drive, Santa Clara, was driving the semi-truck and trailer westbound at the time of the accident.

Luster said the truck struck the small eastbound car driven by Peterson in the inside lane of the narrow road.

The truck's rear dual wheels were sheared. The Peterson car overturned, coming to rest against a tree down an embankment.

A 1968 model American-made car, driven by Leslie Burger of 903 Alta Vista, Pacifica, was struck by the truck's trailer, and the fourth car hit the Peterson car before it went over the embankment.

Pacifica firemen said Peterson's feet were wedged beneath the dashboard. He was drenched with gasoline, they said, which required that they pry rather than cut him free.

The accident closed the road and commute hour traffic began to back up, so Luster ordered the road sealed at both Pacifica and San Bruno sides to minimize the tie-up.

War College Graduate

A graduate of South San Francisco High, Lt. Col. Roy L. Thompson, Air Command and Staff College Faculty, was the first man from his school to graduate from the Air War College Seminar Program recently.

Col. Thompson, chief of the theater operations branch, is responsible for the military employment area of the curriculum. Shortly after his promotion to lieutenant colonel, he enrolled in the Seminar Course in October, 1969.

Crocker to Develop Bruno Mountain

Early development of San Bruno Mountain, the desolate land mass that dominates the scenery of northern San Mateo County, was foreseen last week by the owner, the Crocker Land Company.

By the end of the century, vice president and general manager M. Sherman Eubanks said, the property could be the site of some $500 million worth of development and accommodate a population of between 30,000 and 50,000.

Eubanks painted the picture in announcing that plans are being made for additional development of Crocker Land Company holdings, a 3,000-acre property surrounded by San Francisco, Daly City, Colma, South San Francisco and Brisbane.

Called Visitacion Rancho by the owners, the property derived from three Spanish land grants. It is shown on official maps as Canada de Gaudalupe la Visitacion y Rodeo Viejo. Eubanks said the owners have not decided on a name for the development.

"We have had hundreds of suggestions," he said, "but we have always called it Visitacion Rancho."

The first development there has been the $30 million Crocker Industrial Park north of Brisbane. Future development, according to Eubanks, will include office parks, residential and public uses, and enough commercial to provide a sound tax base to support the population living on the mountain.

Eubanks said discussions will soon begin with representatives of public agencies and citizen groups to obtain their views "as an aid in devising the most attractive land use plans for the property."

"We intend to treat the property with the greatest care and sensitivity," Eubanks declared. "The development program may span 15 to 25 years, and in recognition of this, a flexible and responsive program is essential. It is our intention to make this a truly outstanding development, preserving the optimum amount of open space for public and private recreational uses."

Eubanks pledged that substantial open space will be incorporated into the plans. Asked about the possibility of a conflict with the recommendations of the Regional Planning Committee, which has urged acquisition of 350 acres atop San Bruno Mountain for a regional park, Eubanks replied that "their recommendations could be encompassed in our program."

He predicted that the owners will want some development in the relatively flat "saddle area," the choicest property atop the mountain, which the RPC has given a top priority for public acquisition.

He estimated that planning will require six to nine months, after which development will begin as soon as possible.

Annexation to one or more of the surrounding San Mateo cities remains a possibility, Eubanks said. Incorporation as a city has been ruled out, he added.
